

'Knock Down Trade Barriers Against U.K.'

WINNIPEG (CP) — A British industrialist Tuesday called on Canada and the United Kingdom to abolish trade quotas and tariffs as a move toward freer trade between the two countries.

"An alternative policy of increasing protection would, I believe, damage us both," the Rt. Hon. Sir Toby Low, Conservative member of parliament, told the 80th annual meeting of the Winnipeg Chamber of Commerce.

Britain still was buying much more from Canada than she was exporting to this country, he said. Protective measures were restricting Britain from increasing her exports.

"Between 1951 and 1958 our exports to Canada rose by 37 per cent and, in the first four months of 1959 they were worth 8 per cent more than, in the same four months of 1958," said Sir Toby, former minister of state, board of trade.

"The gap between exports and imports is still very large and much in Canada's favor. In 1958 your imports cost us $781,000,000 and we got by our exports to you only $527,000,000."

Sir Toby said Britain has moved from a tight system of restrictions on imports from Canada and dollar countries to an almost complete trade freedom.

"Today the door is open to Canadian commodities and goods to enter Britain just as it is open for the countries of Western Europe."

He added that Britain is doing everything possible to balance the trade between the two countries.

"I want to leave you no doubt that we are competitive in price, delivery date, design, technically and scientifically, with the United States," he said.

"Today our scientists, our technologists, our managers, our factories and our plants are up to date and advanced and, in not a few cases, lead the world."

Sir Toby said that Britain expects to sell nothing in Canada which is not as good in quality and price as that "which you can get elsewhere." All Britain wants, he said, is the opportunity to be able to sell its materials to this country.

Canada need not be worried that Britain will stop buying her wheat as a result of recent trade agreements with the Soviet bloc and China, Sir Toby said.

"I want to assure your wheat growers that Britain's bread eaters like your hard wheat. Our whole bread-baking industry is based on that."

He said agreements to expand Britain's trade with Russia which lead to expansion of British exports and industrial output will "most definitely work to Canada's advantage."

TRADE MORE WITH REDS

ST. ANDREWS, N.B. (CP) — Active trade across the Pacific between Canada and Communist countries is envisaged by Cyrus Eaton, Canadian-born Cleveland industrialist here for the annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

Canada, Mr. Eaton said, cannot wait to see whether the United States adopts "sounder" policies without Canada sacrificing her tremendous potential for trade with the Far East.

"An examination of the ambitious Siberian development program in the new Soviet seven-year plan leaves no doubt of the thriving traffic that can be conducted across the Pacific between the west coast of Canada and the Russian Far East."

Commons Asked To Probe Sale Of Indian Land

OTTAWA (CP) — The Liberals today sought to bring on an emergency debate in the Commons over sale of 160 acres of Indian lands at Sarnia, Ont., to an investment firm which resold at a profit of $800,000 to Ontario Hydro.

J. W. Pickersgill, former Liberal citizenship minister, moved a motion criticizing the "failure" of Citizenship Minister Fairclough to protect the Indians, saying they received $2,000 an acre from Dimensional Investments Limited which immediately resold the land to Ontario Hydro for $7,000 an acre.

Mr. Pickersgill, MP for Bonaville-Twillingate, said that in view of the Ontario provincial election Thursday it was a matter of urgency to determine whether the price paid by Ontario Hydro was something the Indians lost or extravagance on the part of the provincial government.

After Speaker Roland Michener expressed doubts about the matter being of national importance, Mr. Pickersgill argued that the most important and urgent matter possible is the performance of a trust by ministers of the Crown. In this case, the citizenship minister, as superintendent general of Indians, is trustee for the Indians.

Ruled Too Late To Be Corrected

Speaker Michener finally ruled the motion out of order as applying to an accomplished fact. A discussion at this time, therefore, wouldn't correct the situation.

Mr. Pickersgill said it is important to determine immediately whether the land was worth the $7,000-an-acre price—in which case the Indians and not Dimensional Investments should have received that amount—or whether it wasn't worth the money.

HINT FRENCH-CANADIAN AS GOVERNOR-GENERAL

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's next governor-general will be a Canadian, and probably a French-speaking Canadian, it was learned today.

Informants said Prime Minister Diefenbaker has decided to follow the lead of the former Liberal government in having a Canadian in Government House.

Identity of Mr. Diefenbaker's choice has been kept secret.

PREMIER FROST

JOHN WINTERMEYER

Soviet Bid Vetoed

GENEVA (CP) — A Russian proposal to the Western powers for a one-year moratorium in the Berlin crisis was rejected in the foreign ministers' conference today.

State Secretary Herter told Foreign Minister Gromyko that the United States "will never negotiate under deadlines, threats or duress."

In a dramatic session—amid talk of a breakdown of negotiations—Herter appealed to Gromyko to reconsider the proposal he made Tuesday.

Gromyko offered to hold up for a year Russia's threat to squeeze the Allies out of West Berlin, provided they started work on Soviet-dictated terms for a German settlement.

An American spokesman called the 12-month time limit equivalent to an ultimatum, and speculated that Russia made the proposal "in order to bring about a breakdown of the conference."

Assistant State Secretary Andrew H. Berding, making public the Soviet proposal which was advanced at a secret session Tuesday, reported the Western reaction today at a press conference.

Berding said that "obviously there is no point in going on with the conference on the basis of these proposals."

Gromyko, after his move at the secret session at Herter's residence Tuesday, got agreement to a formal Big Four session today. He served notice he would present the proposal there—meaning he would make it public.

SOUGHT DETAILS

Herter and the other foreign ministers, Britain's Selwyn Lloyd and France's Maurice Couve de Murville, asked for a written statement of the plan. Gromyko refused to provide it.

Berding said the proposal as "reintroduces a time limit, one year, into the Berlin situation and also reintroduces the element of threat."

Berding said the proposal as presented by Gromyko more-or-less covered these general lines:

"The Soviet Union would accept the temporary maintenance of certain Western occupation rights in West Berlin for a one-year period."

"During this period an all-German committee of the Communist German Democratic Republic and the West German Federal Republic on a parity basis should work out the problem of reunification, agree on the principles of a peace treaty and facilitate the development and broadening of contacts between the GDR and FRG."

VOTING THURSDAY

Long Tory Reign At Stake in Ont.

TORONTO (CP) — It's election day Thursday for Ontario, a Conservative domain for 41 of the last 54 years.

Five weeks of campaigning by 296 candidates grind to a halt tonight, leaving the decision up to a record 3,212,454 voters.

Polls open at 9 a.m. and close at 8 p.m. EDT (5 p.m. PDT) in 96 of the 98 ridings. Times are an hour later in the northwestern constituencies of Kenora and Rainy River, located in the Central time zone.

Premier Leslie Frost, who took office in 1949, is bidding to extend 16 consecutive years of Conservative administration—already a record for his party in the province. His platform is continued progress for Canada's richest region.

OPPOSITION VIEW

The opposing leaders, John Wintermeyer of the Liberals and Donald C. MacDonald of the CCF, have appealed to voters to throw out a government which they charge has become smug and arrogant.

Conservatives have dominated political life in Ontario since their first election triumph in 1905. Their reign was interrupted from 1919 to 1923 when the United Farmers of Ontario held office and by a nine-year Liberal administration between 1934 and 1943.

The Liberals seek to repeat the 1934 election sweep of Mitchell Hepburn. The CCF have never formed an Ontario government, although it was the opposition party from 1943 to 1945 and again between 1948 and 1951.

Two issues which sparked personal feuding during the campaign revolved on last year's natural gas stock controversy and the purchase of former Indian lands near Sarnia by Ontario Hydro. Political profiteering was charged.

The natural gas issue appears to be giving the Conservatives little concern. They say the government fought and won six byelections last year in which the gas controversy was a dominant topic.

In the 1955 election the Conservatives emerged with 83 seats, the Liberals with 11 and the CCF three. An Independent Conservative, James Dempsey, was elected in Renfrew South but later died and the seat was won by Progressive Conservative James Maloney in a 1956 byelection.

At dissolution last month the Conservatives held 83 seats, the Liberals 11 and the CCF three. One was vacant due to the death of Thomas Kennedy, veteran Conservative member for Peel.

Only the Conservatives and the Liberals are contesting all 98 seats in Thursday's voting. The CCF has candidates in 81. Nine Communist Labor-Progressives, five Social Credit, three Independents and two independent Conservatives also are in the running.

GOODWILL MISSION BACKFIRES

Fast River Run Knocks Out Dike

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A goodwill visit of six Canadian warships backfired today when fishermen and farmers near here threatened to file lawsuits for damage caused along the Columbia River bank by waves from the ships.

Army engineers said the waves tore out all but 300 feet of a 2,600-foot-long revertment on Sauvie Island, north of Portland.

The Canadians expressed regret but denied any blame.

The ships are the Second Canadian Escort Squadron. They are the Assiniboine—the flagship—St. Laurent, Saguenay, Skeena, Fraser and Margaree.

Col. Walter L. Winegar, Portland district engineer, imposed speed limits for a four-mile stretch of the Columbia, and also ordered a 24-hour patrol for the damaged levee. Bank fishermen said four Canadian destroyer escorts speeded by Tuesday, setting up 12-foot high waves that washed completely over two persons.

Mr. and Mrs. Orlo Poyfair of Portland said they saved their lives only by clinging to brush. Other fishermen said they lost their gear when the waves hit. They said they were considering suing for the loss.

Elmer Peterson, secretary-treasurer of the drainage district, said the farmers could not raise the money to repair the dike, and added: "the only course we have is a lawsuit."

Another amendment will provide for suspension of the licence of a driver for leaving the scene of an accident.

A legal definition of obscenity will be written into the Criminal Code as well, if the government's proposals are accepted by Parliament.

Existing code provisions give magistrates discretion in assessing fines of persons convicted of minor offences—that is, in assessing fines for summary conviction.

For more serious indictable offences there is no present provision for delayed payment of fines.

In all cases, jail terms must be served if the convicted person is unable to pay a fine.

Informants said magistrates have been letting people pay fines by instalment, or have been giving them set periods of time to raise the money, without sending them to jail. But the practice varies from magistrate to magistrate.

CAN MAKE REQUEST

The code amendments, sponsored by Justice Minister Fulton, will provide for instalment payment of fines for both summary and indictable offences, informants said.

A convicted offender will be given the right to request a minimum of time—perhaps two or three weeks—in which to raise the money. He will be required only to show to the court's satisfaction that he needs this time.

The legal definition of obscenity will make it an offence unduly to exploit sex and crime in books, pictures and recordings and in various other ways.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

O God, help us to understand that power lies not in bombs but in Thee. Groom our hearts to receive that life which death cannot destroy. Let our eyes behold the kingdom that remains unmoved when all else lies in rubble. Place Thy hand in ours and lead us, through all life's fears and failures, into the peace of Thy forgiveness and love, through Christ, our Lord. Amen.

Adenauer, Erhard Settle Dispute

(Times News Services) BONN — Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer settled their quarrel over the West German chancellorship tonight, Christian Democratic party sources said. The sources said Erhard has agreed to remain in office as economics minister.

Erhard had sought a vote of confidence from the party group to put him in line for the chancellorship in succession to Adenauer.

The Adenauer-Erhard dispute and the rift in party ranks centred on Adenauer's decision—announced while Erhard was visiting the United States last week—to hold on to the chancellorship instead of giving it up as planned. The report of the settlement came after the two principals had talked together for two hours.

Adenauer joined his party in making a full apology to Erhard.

Erhard returned from the U.S. Tuesday with a pledge that he would "fight" to clear up what he called an "historic lie" about him. He categorized the lie as including statements that he had ever laid "claim" to the chancellorship of West Germany, that he was less steadfast than others in foreign policy, and that he was an opponent of European integration.

Seems Mister Gromyko wants one year more on his one-year moratorium. Ottawa's all for trade with Britain—long's it's all export. M' Uncle Zeke's all for payin' fines by instalments. See-it's better'n bein' installed.

'Save Market' Main Objective Of New Society

Attilio Rando, oldest stall holder at the public market, today wrote City Hall that stall holders and interested persons intend to form a non-profit market society to save the building.

He said as soon as the group is formed under the Societies Act, it will engage an outside engineer to appraise the building.

The letter said city engineer James Garnett's report—that there is serious structural deterioration could be wrong.

If it was shown that rental of the building would provide the city with more revenue than conversion to a parking lot, the society would ask the city to scrap demolition plans and order needed repairs.

City council Thursday is expected to make a decision on fate of the building as a result of the city engineer's report. Tenders for demolition were called some time ago.)

SALE DRAWS ART LOVERS

Emily Carr Study Auctions at $325

A small landscape by Victoria artist Emily Carr was sold for $325 at an art sale in Lund's auction rooms, 926 Fort, Tuesday night.

But another painting attributed to Emily Carr—a nude in water colors—fetched only $25.

A small oil painting by Canadian artist F. S. Coburn fetched the top price of $390. Oils by A. Y. Jackson and Arthur Lismer of the Canadian Group of Seven were sold for $165 and $160 respectively.

Buyers came from Seattle, as well as Courtenay, Nanaimo and other up-island centres.

The sale of 200 paintings continues tonight in Lund's auction rooms tonight at 7.30.

Racket Busting Group Proposed

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Liberal party is studying plans for organization of a "vigilante" group to fight spiralling living costs, exorbitant lending interest rates and rackets.

Ray Perrault, the provincial party leader, said Tuesday he expects to make specific proposals to the government this month.

"The kind of group we have in mind would not be affiliated to the government," he said, "but would be recognized by the government as having investigatory powers."

"I have had discussions with several groups who are interested in breaking existing rackets in B.C. and I've come to the conclusion that somebody is necessary."

Mr. Perrault said the attorney-general had taken a good first step in stiffening real estate regulations "so far as it goes."

ROUND-CLOCK FIGHT TO SAVE CONSTABLE

Constable Bryan Pickup, 28, the father of three children, is on the critical list in hospital, with a bullet wound in the stomach.

Const. Pickup was the first officer on the scene at an east-end Bank of Montreal branch during a daylight holdup by two masked bandits.

Pickup grabbed one of the bandits and grappled him to the ground, but in the scuffle the bandit's gun went off.

Two of the bandits, including one man from Vancouver, are in custody. Police are checking the possibility a third man was waiting in a car. Police recovered the loot, $10,735, intact.

early to fix blame and added that the pilots "were very competent and realized the dangers up and down the river."

Trees were washed out and in some places the waves took 20- to 25-foot-deep bits from the dike.

The Columbia River now is rising in its annual freshet, but engineers said there is no immediate threat to the dike. The river now is at 19 feet, three feet over nominal flood level. Dikes protect the island against higher levels than that.

Ships are not restricted in speed in that area ordinarily until the river reaches a height of 25 feet.

Col. Winegar directed that ships be limited to a speed of five knots upstream and eight knots downstream.

Mrs. George Johnson, a resident of the area, said "we've lived here for 45 years and this has never happened before."

Fluoride Vote Asked

Victoria-Esquamalt Health Board Tuesday decided to ask the four municipal councils to hold a fluoridation plebiscite in December.

"Let's settle the question," said Esquamalt Coun. G. K. Sammon when he proposed the motion at a board meeting. The board at the same time

"re-affirmed" its previous stand endorsing the principles of fluoridation.

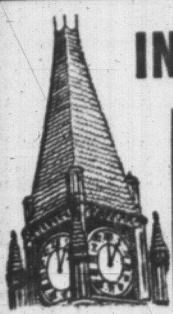

Referring to recent publicity on the question, Coun. Sammon said the municipal councils should be approached to allow a vote.

"They and they alone can decide whether it goes to the people," he said. "I don't think the ratepayers should be denied the opportunity to register their choice."

Coun. Sammon said he agreed with MHO Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy's plea that the question should be kept clear of politics but he said he thought the vote should be held in conjunction with the civic elections because it would ensure more ballots were cast.

The Mystery of Power

CONCERNING THE WENNER-GREN power scheme an obscure but significant piece of evidence emerged in Ottawa the other day. The Senate was warned that the existing tax on electrical exports was not only unfair to the B.C. Electric but very damaging to the prospects of Peace River power. From this it would appear that the Wenner-Gren syndicate is counting largely on the United States for a power market.

Until now, the public has been told that Peace River power would flow mainly into Vancouver because, according to the promoters, the development of much cheaper Columbia power would be delayed indefinitely. In addition, it has been hinted (though never confirmed) that the Peace power would be used to fuel a uranium refining industry. Now it appears that the promoters are looking to an American market some 700 miles from the power site.

What does all this mean? Does it mean that the promoters at last realize that western Canada cannot begin to use the joint power of the Columbia and the Peace for many years to come?

That fact has always been obvious but has never been admitted so far by Mr. Bennett and his Wenner-Gren associates. To them, apparently, the more power the better, even if we cannot use it; and they seldom observe that power plants, once established, represent a great and permanent cost to somebody. Are we to assume now that the cost, on the Peace River, will be borne mainly by American importers?

These questions are not answered by the promoters, nor by their sponsor, Mr. Bennett. The whole Peace River scheme proceeds in a cloud of contrived mystery as if it were none of the public's business when, in fact, it involves the public's resources, not only of power but of timber and minerals. What are the promoters really up to? Why does Mr. Bennett still refuse to disclose their actual plans to the people? Again, no answer.

Maybe Mr. Bennett doesn't know the answer himself. But in Vancouver persons close to Mr. Wenner-Gren have been busily advocating a new power grid which would retail the power of the Peace and the Columbia jointly in a single, efficient operation.

This would be a promising project if Peace and Columbia power were the same thing but, in terms of price, they are not. No one knows the figures exactly in advance, but power from the Columbia—produced by American turbines as a result of a Canadian dam—should be about half the price of Peace River power delivered in Vancouver.

The consumers are entitled to the lowest possible price. If there is to be a joint grid of some sort we should make sure that we are not going to pay the relatively high cost of Peace River power disguised by a system of joint bookkeeping. The opportunity of some of the world's cheapest electricity from the Columbia should not be spoiled by an admixture of more expensive northern power merely to suit the financial plans of the Wenner-Gren syndicate.

The important thing at the moment is to get on with the Columbia scheme and make sure that cheap power is provided as soon as possible, for the Columbia is the best and most economical answer to our power problem.

Once the Columbia scheme is under way, by agreement between Canada and the United States, the Peace River promoters can take care of themselves, selling wherever they can find a market on a competitive basis.

The danger is that somehow they will manage to fasten relatively expensive power on the consumer while receiving large grants of public property in the north. The public's natural alarm at that score is only increased by Mr. Bennett's silence and the promoters' mystery.

A Canadian Ensign

AT THE IMPRESSIVE COMMISSIONING services of HMCS Terra Nova, what must have appeared an anomaly to many guests was observed: as the Canadian Red Ensign was lowered, the naval band played "God Save the Queen"; as the British White Ensign was raised, to take its place, the band played "O Canada."

That same day, by a curious coincidence, the Naval Officers Association, meeting in Winnipeg, passed a resolution asking the authorities to consider creation of a distinctive Canadian ensign for warships.

Coming from a band of men who had received their training under the White Ensign, no disrespect for this famous standard could be imputed. This is simply another manifestation—and a healthy one, in our opinion—of the Canadian desire to have Canadian ships sail under a Canadian flag.

Towards Proper Language

THE CLASSICAL STUDENT seeking to gain a mastery of Greek and Latin in British Columbia schools is going the way of the whooping crane. Only one school in the province (a private school in Victoria) offers Greek, and there is just one young Latinist teacher on the mainland. The middle-aged and senior classics teachers are inevitably discouraged. Senior students are vanishing.

These sombre facts are made in a brief to the recent Chant Commission on Education by professor John Carson of Victoria College. What is needed, he suggests, is a fresh start, a complete re-evaluation. He takes it as a basic axiom of education—a moral issue—that "boys and girls cannot get something for nothing," and that they need the disciplines of classical training.

This is a matter deserving far more thought than has been given to it in provincial educational circles in recent years. The popular assumption has been allowed to develop that Latin and Greek are "dead," or at best, only ornamental, in a modern school curriculum.

It has been frequently stated that a knowledge of Greek and Latin, apart from its intrinsic worth, is an incomparable tool in fashioning correct English. The person who understands the grammar of the old languages has a better appreciation of the correct use of his own tongue.

It will be a sorry development if Latin and Greek are thrust so far into the discard that they become of freak interest only, while the tongue of the beatnik and the jazz player becomes the speech coinage of general circulation.

Perhaps it is time for those who recognize the merit of proper speech and proper writing to think seriously of the current disregard of the classical languages and vary an old quotation to ask: "What can they know of English who only English know?"

World Refugee Day

IN ONE OF THE ENCOURAGING gestures of a troubled world, British Government, business and individuals early this month embarked upon "World Refugee Year."

The objective before the people who met in the Mansion House, London, for the opening, and for men and women in 58 other countries within the United Nations, is to find homes for the homeless who have been in camps and in other assembly points.

The task seems all but impossible and certainly will not be completed within the 12 months ending next June. At the same time this is a positive start toward solving the problem. If the campaign merely finds a way to rescue these people—decaying now in various refugee camps that have existed too long to be called temporary, it will mark a major accomplishment.

The number of homeless is staggering. There are the tens of thousands from Communist China and Tibet, Koreans who have been driven from, or left, their towns, Arabs dispossessed and Hungarians who have fled their country.

The symbol of the movement is an outstretched human hand drawn by Dame Laura Knight. The Lord Mayor of London has voiced a general plea to those more fortunate to "take this opportunity to grasp that outstretched hand and lead it, with those it symbolizes, from the dark depths of despair into a world of sunshine and hope, happiness and security."

There is another interesting symbol in the British campaign. It has been initiated by four young Britons led by Christopher Chataway, the Olympic miler. Mr. Chataway is the man who paced Roger Bannister and John Landy to "four minute miles"—an accomplishment that was little more than a dream a few years ago. Mr. Chataway, who also broke the "four minute mile," is pacing again. It could be a happy omen.

"...Yes, these are authentic Indian totems... rather fascinating history... Ages ago it seems this particular Asiatic tribe decided not to migrate all the way to our west coast but settled instead on some quaint islands lying off the coast of China and..."

COAL HARBOR, COLD HEARTS

By B. A. TOBIN

Cape Flattery Will Get You Nowhere

NOW that the British Columbia mainland is again connected to Victoria by direct summer boat service, various odd communications and messages have been filtering across the Strait. A recent one seems to have emanated from a community which older Victoria residents may recall as a settlement which a few years ago sprang up across the inlet from Moodyville and has since appeared under several aliases—Gastown, Coal Harbor, Hastings, Granville, and latterly, Vancouver.

Tobin

A writer in that centre, apparently having read about current international affairs in a Victoria paper, proposes that the projected summit meeting of the Big Four be held in Victoria. He bases his plan on the fact that Mr. Khrushchev has said that he would "go to the ends of the earth," if necessary, to attend such a conference.

The mainland writer suggests that the provincial capital would be the obvious choice since thousands of visitors here have been heard to mutter, "This is THE end."

Mr. Khrushchev's remark, however, does not rule out Gastown (Vancouver) as a possible site for the talks, since he has not specified that it would have to be the front end of the earth. The other end might also be acceptable, and this would provide Coal Harbor (Vancouver) with its chance for fame.

Much of the plaintive comment which is heard from the mainland from time to time obviously arises from a tendency to confuse size with quality.

The resident of a large city views his acreage of concrete and blacktop, and his heart swells with pride in its extent. Such euphoria, one would think, should be sufficient in itself. Urbanization on a mass scale should give a defence in depth that would be proof against any intrusion of thoughts such as "What good is it all?" "Is this really the optimum?" and so on. But it doesn't.

The gnawing doubts creep in and will not be still until some other better, worthier community has been designated to compensate.

Poor Hastings (Vancouver)! Having size but nothing worth mentioning to call its own it must spread in all directions, seeking in the surrounding areas what it feels is its rightful due. It extends its highways into North Vancouver for the skiing, New Westminster for history, Richmond for the airport, and Surrey for the inconvenience.

It looks down on all its smaller neighbors. Yet nothing delights its citizens more than to climb to the top of Grouse Mountain and look down on their own city. The climb is an achievement which in itself constitutes an act of self-abasement.

Lucky are the men and women who, having fought the giantism of Granville, (Vancouver) for years, are able to retire to prepared positions in Victoria and snatch victory from defeat. They recognize that Victoria, end of the earth though it may be, is also an end in itself.

Once out of sight and hearing of Victorians, the boastful shouts of the Vancouverites are cut down to sighs, of envy. This, of course, he cannot admit. Only in the inverted language of the psychiatric world where hate means love and jealousy means admiration, can the Vancouverite express himself.

Vancouver (Vancouver, B.C.) was born and raised on the shore of Burrard Inlet. When it became apparent that the heat treatment had failed, the CPR decided to push the railway further along the inlet from Port Moody. It was the end of the line for the CPR but not for the city, which now began a slow process of replacing the scenery with houses.

But what really burned Vancouver up much more than its fire was the decision to continue the provincial seat of government at Victoria. Because along with the seat went the head, the arms and the outstretched hands. Thus, while Vancouver had to be content at the end of steel, for Victoria it was only a beginning.

With this background, Victoria should be well suited as a site for the summit members. If they don't achieve a sudden settlement out here, it won't be the San Andreas fault.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

'Do-It-Yourself' Fluoridation

In reference to yet another move to introduce fluoridation to the local water system, Dr. Mahaffy gives the opponents of the scheme very few choices—they are either "publicity seekers, persons with commercial interests, the uninformed, misguided champions or food faddists." By thus categorizing any person who might be inclined to oppose the measure, Dr. Mahaffy apparently hopes to stifle public opinion. This type of propaganda could scarcely be described as democratic procedure and it would hardly be recognized as modern public relations at its best.

The question of fluoridation has been raised so often in recent years that many people are now fairly conversant with the subject. They will also have seen various press items from time to time indicating that some cities have defeated the measure by plebiscite, and that others have actually voted it down after a trial period. "These facts would, I believe, prove that the local 'publicity seekers, food faddists, etc.' are by no means alone in their objection to a scheme which would force mass medication on a long-suffering public."

It is not my intention to deny or confirm the claim that fluorides are beneficial for children's teeth, nor do I wish to deal with the possibility that the introduction of yet another chemical to our drinking water would be harmful to some people. It is, however, my opinion that people interested in preserving their children's teeth, and who think that this can be done by the use of fluorides, may do so by installing their own domestic fluoridation system, or they might use certain types of toothpaste which has been impregnated with the chemical. Measures such as these would most likely have the desired effect and they would also relieve the overburdened taxpayers of the cost of the installation and upkeep of the expensive equipment required for fluoridation.

FLORENCE G. BARR,
965 Trans-Canada Highway.

'Diabolical Method'

It becomes sickening to hear the old chestnuts of local propagandists for fluoridation when there is so much evidence to disprove them. Thus Dr. Mahaffy and G. K. Sammon—"Fluoridation is not mass medication. Fluoridation is not an instrument of communist subversion." Let Charles E. Perkins, one of the ablest authorities extant on the chemistry, biochemistry, physiology and pathology of fluorine, speak.

He says the idea of fluoridation was brought to England before the war by Russian Communist Kremlinnoff. The German general staff and the Russian general staff had exchanged scientific and military ideas... "the scheme of mass control through water medication was seized upon by the Russian communists. Mr. Perkins was told of the whole plan by a German chemist of the Farben Chemical Industries, from whom it was learned that fluoridation is one of the most dangerous and diabolical methods of the enemy. They weaken one's will to resist through the medication of water."

C. M. CADWALLADER,
2875 Delatree Street.

Keep It Free

The proposed fluoridation of our water supply needs very careful looking into. I am getting on in years, and no doubt the addition of a little poison to the water I drink will not shorten my life very much; but thousands of younger people may find that the minions of the big interests, who are trying to force this iniquity upon us, have not so much care for the dental health of the children, as for the continued use of tooth-rotting pop, emulsified flour, white-sugar, and harmful and poisonous preservatives of all kinds in our foods and drinks.

Let those who wish to use this poison purchase it from the drug stores, for use in their families, and not try to force it on those who object to being poisoned, even by slow degrees. This is a free country, let us keep it so, and have none of communism's mass regimentation forced upon us.

E. W. ABRAHAM,
1125 Faithful Street.

O Canada Origin

The Sunday Times Magazine has attempted to explain the origin of O Canada, and one wonders where the writer went for his information.

One suspects it was gathered by Mr. Barbeau, who has been given $5,000 from the Canada Council for collecting French folk songs. However, it is a pity she did not go to the Dominion Archives and get the facts as written by the late Hon. Justice Weir. The music according to the late judge, is Mozart's priest-march from the Magic Flute, and he also suggested that Canada erect a monument to the immortal Mozart.

LONDON LETTER

Selling Mr. Lloyd?

THERE is not a scrap of evidence to suggest that Mr. Macmillan has chosen the particular moment when Mr. Selwyn Lloyd is representing Britain at the Geneva conference to fly a kite in favor of his departure from the Foreign Office. It is not in Mr. Macmillan's nature to act in such a way.

Yet, when the Sunday Express and The Times jointly fly this kite, some readers of the British press may assume that the exercise has official backing.

It is quite certain that this is not so. Mr. Macmillan did not send his colleague off to Geneva with the reassuring message that, as soon as it could decently be managed, Mr. Selwyn Lloyd should cease to be foreign secretary.

In fact, any newspaper which would welcome a change at the Foreign Office can least easily accomplish its object by saying that such a change is being planned. When Mr. Macmillan formed his government after the Suez affair, for example, it was suggested that he might make a change at the Foreign Office.

Prevented Change

This, among other factors, prevented any change being made. Since then, Mr. Macmillan has boasted that he does not sack his colleagues.

But what is to be done? What kind of foreign secretary does Mr. Macmillan prefer a man who will never equal, let alone challenge, the authority of the prime minister whenever the head of the government chooses to speak on foreign affairs, or a man who is an impressive parliamentary figure in his own right?

No one knows Mr. Macmillan's mind on this point. He was himself moved from the Foreign Office after a short stay, by Sir Anthony Eden.

Sir Anthony resigned from the office of foreign secretary before the war rather than submit to the dominance in foreign affairs of the prime minister at that time, Mr. Neville Chamberlain.

When Sir Anthony was foreign secretary after the war, he worked in the shadow of the prime minister; Sir Winston Churchill. There has in fact not been a dominant figure at the Foreign Office since Mr. Bevan's time.

Informal Visit

The Australian prime minister, Mr. Menzies, arrived in London on Monday on a visit which is described as informal and unofficial. "There is no special purpose in his present tour," said an official at Australia House. "You might say it is just to keep in touch—that is a very definite thing with him, you know."

It further appears that the prime minister will be here a month, has issued no itinerary, and will be paying visits—informal, of course—to Buckingham Palace and 10 Downing Street.

He agreed with reporters at the airport that he will be discussing the question of a successor to Sir William Slim, who retires as governor-general this year.

This, according to Australian correspondents in London, may be the key to it all. They point to the fact that when Mr. Diefenbaker was on his recent world tour he tossed out the suggestion that one way to strengthen the bonds of Commonwealth would be a system of interchange in the appointment of the Queen's representatives. Significantly, perhaps, he said this after calling on Mr. Menzies.

Suppose now the Australians were to ask for a Canadian as their next governor-general. That would set the stage nicely for the appointment of Mr. Massey's successor in Ottawa, and who better than "Pig Iron Bob"? After all he is 64, his party's mandate expires in 1961, and he has been in politics for 30 years.

'Highly Pleased'

Lerner and Loewe went to Drury Lane last week to see how their "My Fair Lady" is looking after its first 13 months. Next morning Loewe was in bed suffering from exhaustion and Lerner was left to say that they found the show "in extraordinary condition." He quickly added that he meant it was extraordinarily good; that they were "highly pleased" with Mr. Clunes and his fresh and original characterization, and that in rehearsal this morning he had tightened up one or two things. He must also have been pleased to see that there are no evening seats available until January, 1960.

Both Lerner and Loewe are now working in Paris on a musical adaptation of T. H. White's "The Once and Future King." Richard Burton will play King Arthur. Oliver Smith will design the sets and Adrian the costumes. Alan Lerner hopes Julie Andrews will be Guinevere.

MONEY VALUE

My brother, Sir George Eddy, when still at school, won a prize, and father gave him half-a-crown as an additional reward. With this sum he paid his return train fare from Kidderminster to Birmingham, his train fare to Percy Barr, his admission to the Aston Villa ground, his return tram fare, the cost of a pot of tea, with toast and egg, his entrance to the old Grand Theatre, the price of four ounces of sweets, and for a grand finale of food, a large ham sandwich, price twopenny.

WHAT FLAVOR?
Recently a large body of slugs and snails have assailed the postal facilities of Hemlock, a village of much charm and beauty near the Somerset border. The post office has taken strong action to meet the situation. On every slug-chewed letter received there is a printed form explaining that it has been chewed by a slug.

History in the Air

NEW YORK—Canada last year had the world's second highest growth in air traffic, an increase of 18 per cent over the previous year, maintaining Canada in fourth place among the member nations of the International Civil Aviation Organization.

ICAO, in its annual report, states that for world aviation as a whole 1958 was a bad year with a probable net loss of about $160,000,000. During 1957, the airlines lost $41,000,000 as compared with a profit of $84,000,000 for 1956.

Traffic, for the first time in six years, showed a decreased rate of growth mainly caused by the situation in the United States, where domestic traffic remained unchanged and international traffic rose by only 4 per cent.

But it was an historical year in aviation history which saw introduction into scheduled service for the first time of large new jet aircraft which reduced trans-Atlantic flight time from 12½ to 6½ hours. The report does not mention the operation of Russian jets, in service for several years, because Russia is not a member of ICAO. The report notes that these came into operation after "some years of testing and preparation," an indirect reference to the original ill-fated Comets, the world jet pioneers which came into brief service in 1951.

The biggest of the new jets, says ICAO, will make 10 Atlantic crossings a week, carrying up to 170 each trip, giving them the carrying capacity of a 40,000-ton passenger ship.

The jets promise to be money earners, not only for the airlines, but also for the crews who fly them. Salary demands for jet crews, include wage formulae which would pay senior pilots as much as $45,000 a year. This would seem to put pilots salaries higher than the Wall Street stock market and considerably more secure.

ICAO lists the aircraft which will be flown by these high-flying tycoons. By far the greatest number of jets either delivered or on order at the end of the year were Boeing 707's and Douglas DC-8's—142 of each. Then comes the Convair 440 with 53 orders, followed by the French Caravelle with 50. Next, with 36 orders, is the newer, larger Boeing 720, and then the Comet IV with 33, making a total of 481 which will be delivered before 1962. In addition there are 59 newer-model British planes, from Vickers and De Havilland, scheduled for later delivery.

Although last year was not a good one for the world airlines, their numbers continued to grow. During 1958 there was a net gain of no less than 45 airlines, including several in Africa, one in Borneo and one in Nepal, connecting previously inaccessible areas with the capital.

The report also says that, after little more than a decade of service, there are now some 700 helicopters in world use. Canada is listed as one of the major operators and ICAO notes that the first order for a 45-passenger British helicopter—the Fairey Rotodyne—was placed by a British Columbia operator who will use it for inter-city operation.

In addition to the coming into service of jets last year, ICAO notes another historic development—an American rocket flight which "may be regarded as the first conclusive demonstration that transport by rocket between two widely-separated points, on the earth's surface is a definite possibility."

In this flight, launched Dec. 12 by the U.S. Navy, the United States sent its first monkey into space, an ill-fated forerunner for "Baker" and the late "Able." The monkey fared well during the flight, surviving the strain of a 40-G deceleration (40 times the pull of gravity) but was drowned after landing in the water.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Britain's Famous Canadians

LONDON—Some interesting under-researched comments by that influential Sunday paper the Observer that come in the as-others-see-us category.

The journal has done a round-up of Commonwealth people who are currently making important contributions to all fields of endeavor from the theatre to space research.

New Zealand got lengthy credit for such people as ballet dancer Rowena Jackson, Zeta scientist Colin Vance, cartoonist David Low.

Australia gets a long list of credits—Britain's head spaceman, Professor H. W. Massey, author Alan Moorhead, pianist Eileen Joyce, etc.

South Africa gets generous mention—singer Dennis Lotis, actor Lawrence Harvey, Princess Margaret's pet choreographer John Cranko, and so on.

Bringing up the rear, very much so, is Canada. According to the Observer.

"The Canadians present a more modest tally. No doubt they have developed their own culture to the point where there is no need for talent to emigrate, and the United States must also be a magnet. But those Canadians who are here have particular charm.

"There are two Canadian Conservative MPs, Sir Beverley Baxter and Mr. Ted Leather, that extraordinarily sympathetic husband-and-wife team, Bernard Braden and Barbara Kelly, and very good actors like Robert Beatty.

"Is it conceivable, we wonder, that Canadians are a little over-awed by the career of the most celebrated of all Canadian expatriates—the just-turned-80 Lord Beaverbrook?"

With just a little more research the Observer could have presented a formidable list of successful Canadians over here. Without even having to ponder I could have furnished them with an impressive lineup, ranging from Sydney Newman's influence on British television drama to Garfield Weston's imposing stature in the baking and allied industries.

But apart from that, the thing that intrigues me is that last bit about being over-awed by the career of the most celebrated of all Canadian expatriates.

It conjured up a fascinating picture of an ambitious young Canadian, determined to seek wider scope for his talents, saying to himself, "No, I won't go to England. Beaverbrook's squeezed the juice of that orange."

Souvenir-hunting makes thieves of us all. . . . Quote from the Queen's dressmaker, Norman Hartnell, in a "nothing but the truth" interview, when he was asked if he had ever done anything of which he was ashamed: "I expect so, but I wouldn't tell you, would I? However, I did once steal an ashtray from an hotel."

One outcome of the National Health Scheme would seem to be that British doctors must pick up a bit of money wherever they can. When a woman complained that although her clergyman had charged her nothing for endorsing her passport picture, her doctor had charged her five shillings for the same thing, the British Medical Association made the official reply: "Doctors are allowed to charge for passport photo endorsements. No charge is laid down—it is up to the individual."

SYNOPSIS—While coastal areas will enjoy frequent sunny periods today the interior of the province will be mostly cloudy with scattered showers. Showers will be quite frequent in the central and northern interior and could well be accompanied by scattered thunderstorms later in the afternoon.

The approach of a low pressure area now some 800 miles offshore offers a threat to the B.C. coast Thursday. However, it is suspected that the low will bear slightly to the south, so that, while rain is expected over Oregon and Washington, the southern B.C. coast should escape with cloudy periods only.

Arrow Research Aided Satellite

SUFFIELD, Alta. (CP)—

Development of the Avro Arrow helped fit Canada for research on an earth satellite, Dr. A. H. Zimmerman, chairman of the defence research board, said Tuesday.

He said in an interview that Canada has a "fine background" in the technological and instrumentation fields of satellite and missiles.

There had been an "excellent" exchange of information with the United States and work on the Avro Arrow jet interceptor and similar projects have supplied much valuable information.

Dr. Zimmerman said development of the Arrow was a complete technological success. As a weapon, however, the plane was obsolete by its completion date.

How Far Is France Going?

PARIS (AP)—France appears to be drawing steadily away from her chief partners in the Atlantic alliance as President de Gaulle puts on pressure to win his country an equal role with Britain and the United States.

Western diplomats are openly concerned over how far the French president will go.

De Gaulle has set a course aimed at restoring France to her lost international prestige and power. His strategy appears to be to cold-shoulder various NATO projects until the United States and Britain openly recognize the "grandeur of France" which de Gaulle proclaims.

WANTS EQUALITY

De Gaulle is asking to be accepted as a bargaining equal to President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan. His demand is viewed as somewhat unrealistic since France has no atomic bomb, only two under-strength divisions now under NATO and is threatened with internal dissension over Algeria.

De Gaulle wants the formula on how to put together an A bomb. He can't get it from the United States—present acts of Congress forbid that—and Britain shows no inclination to give it to him.

The French president wants to work out with Eisenhower and Macmillan a global policy including the Middle East, Asia and Africa. But both the United States and Britain have misgivings about France's refusal to promise Algeria independence.

De Gaulle also is opposed to the theory of integrated NATO forces which other NATO members have backed repeatedly.

Vic West Show Saturday

As residential districts develop around Victoria, it will be inevitable that new garden club groups form, and the more the merrier.

The gardening interest is catching, and groups to study the hobby are desirable from a community angle.

Competition is a natural outcome of group study, and competition is healthy.

This Saturday afternoon and evening, one of Victoria's oldest communities is staging a flower and vegetable show.

In St. Saviour's Parish Hall, corner of Catherine and Henry Streets, the Victoria West Fourth Annual Flower Show will display early summer perennials and vegetables and roses.

In fact, the rose section is extensive, and competition is keen.

Early fruit and vegetables will make their debut, causing lardy gardeners to drool over the possibilities they missed by not getting down to planting earlier.

The encouraging part about the various show schedules, as they come in to me during the year, is the increase in the number of classes prepared for children.

More and more young couples are becoming seriously interested in the maintenance of pleasant garden surroundings for their new homes. It follows that their children, being brought up among plants, will evolve a respect and a love for living things.

From the time they are about six years old, many children love to show their flowers and vegetables in competition with others of their age.

They need guidance and assistance, but the chief factor in their success lies in the examples of their parents.

Everybody Knew Names Of Garbagemen's Horses

By TONY DICKASON

When "Archie" Findlay joined the Oak Bay municipal staff, population of the municipality was around 3,500 and householders knew names of the garbage men's horses.

And the municipal budget was one-sixth of the $1,500,000 it is today.

Archie has been a municipal employee since March, 1922, and municipal clerk since 1947, appointed on retirement of Robert Blandy who had become something of an institution.

And so has Archie. Now a circumspect 65, apart from municipal duties he has had the onerous distinction of leading dozens of newspaper reporters through the clipped maze of Oak Bay affairs.

He retires June 30. Archibald Donald Findlay, born in Edinburgh, Scotland, came to Victoria in 1914 after three years in the assessor's and collector's office for the County of Middlesex. He had relatives here then.

67th Scots

In February, 1915, he enlisted in the 67th Western Scots, served two and a half years in France, and was discharged "at the old Willows camp" in Oak Bay in March, 1919.

He worked with the Soldiers' Settlement Board until the end of 1921 when the Victoria office folded—and has been happily involved in Oak Bay municipal matters since.

His first job, paying $100 a month, was as deputy clerk, which meant he was also deputy treasurer and deputy collector.

In those days, he recalled, much time was taken in esti-

ARCHIE FINDLAY
... retiring June 30

His first municipal "boss" was the late reeve Sam Drake. There have been 11 other Reeves under whom he has worked, eight still living.

"They all carried on in the same tradition, with the result Oak Bay is one of the best managed municipalities to be found anywhere," he affirmed with justifiable pride.

"The system of having unpaid councillors has drawn a better type of candidate, just the opposite of the ward system with everybody scrambling. We have had excellent leadership with progressive development."

Reticent about himself, Mr. Findlay opens up a bit when it comes to his work.

Good Rating

"Oak Bay has stayed within its borrowings at all times, so today the bond rating is one of the best in Canada."

Oddly enough, Mr. Findlay married a girl from his home town of Edinburgh here in 1922, though neither had met before coming to Victoria. The Findlays have lived at 2275 Windsor since 1932.

Next year the municipal clerk has tentative plans for a return to Scotland, last visited in 1938.

Of his association over more than a generation with Oak Bay's politics, he said firmly: "I have enjoyed the work. Contrary to what some think, it is not the same work day in and day out, but quite diversified, particularly in a smaller office such as this."

A member of three Masonic lodges, member of the Uplands Golf Club since 1924 and a charter member of Oak Bay Kiwanis, you may see Archie some Sunday, far removed from civic duties, serving hot dogs, pop and dispensing cigarettes at the Kiwanis concession at Willows Park.

His secret for relaxed living? "When I leave this office at night I forget municipal affairs—unless some reporter rings me up at 11 p.m."

NEW PRESIDENT of the Canadian Automobile Association is R. J. Hastings of Vancouver who was elected at the group's annual meeting in Regina recently. He is also a director of the B.C. Automobile Association.

Big Italian Ships Struck On Pay Issue

ROME (Reuters)—Some of the biggest ships of the Italian merchant marine, the sixth largest in the world with 100,000 seamen, are strike-bound around the world following union rejection Monday of a shipowners' offer of a six-percent wage increase with further increases every two years.

Ship owners' representatives say they will not reopen talks until the strike is called off.

Two Italian South Atlantic liners were reported strike-bound in Dakar, French West Africa. They are the 12,842-ton Conte Grande on her way to Italy from Latin America, bound for South America.

The 27,078-ton liner Giulio Cesare was held up in New York, while the 18,838-ton Lloyd Trieste liner Neptuna was reported held up at Melbourne.

Seven ships were strike-bound in Naples.

A total of 1,175 passengers bound for Mediterranean ports were stranded in New York Tuesday when 526 members of the Giulio Cesare crew went on strike.

Merchants Seek 'Discount' Unity

A few city merchants who are now accepting American dollars at par will be asked to "fall into line" with the majority who discount the American dollar by five cents.

This was agreed at a meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce retail merchants' group Monday evening.

After some heated discussion the merchants voted in favor of unanimity within the chamber.

"This is strictly a dollar and cents proposition and we cannot afford to absorb the discount," said W. A. Laudrum, chairman of the group.

COMPETITIVE

Tony Lort said his store accepted the American dollar at par because a competitive store nearby did the same.

"Our reason is purely competitive," he said. "There are many good reasons why we should not absorb the discount."

Mr. Lort said it was important that store clerks should explain that the Canadian dollar has a higher value because so much United States money is being invested in the development of Canada.

"This avoids the impression we think the United States is in an inferior position to Canada."

14 Cubans Arrested

SANTIAGO, Cuba (AP)—Fourteen members of ousted dictator Batista's army have been arrested and held on charges of conspiracy against Fidel Castro's regime, it was officially announced today. The announcement said most were seized during a raid on a bar in which three hand grenades and a rifle were found.

Dual Assessment System Protested

A resolution calling for unification of school and general purpose assessments likely will be presented at a meeting of the Union of B.C. Municipalities in September at Kelowna.

Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtel said today that a letter had been received from the B.C. Association of Assessors deploring the present system and the number of conflicting acts authorizing it.

JUST ONE

"There should be one assessment on a piece of land, not two," he said, "and the various acts should be clarified."

"You can't have a piece of land assessed at $1,000 for school purposes and $5,000 for general purposes."

"The property owner will be hopping mad, and rightly so."

He said that a brief will be prepared by the assessors at their annual convention in Penikese a week before the UBCM convention and presented to the latter body.

Culture for Engineers

TORONTO (CP)—The Engineering Institute of Canada has launched what it describes as "an attempt to prevent the engineer from falling flat on his intellectual face when he leaves school."

It's a scheme to educate Canadian engineers in subjects ranging from music appreciation to psychology. Operated in 12 cities last year, it was put on a national basis by the EIC at its 73rd annual meeting Tuesday.

A. Cecil Davy, western field secretary, said the attempt to interest engineers in the arts was done last year through night classes in human relations, personal development and academic subjects. He said it's known as the "professional development plan."

FIRST LEG
COMPLETED
BY CITY TUG

The Cambrian Salvor, the Victoria-owned tug making a 10,000-mile voyage across the Pacific with a battleship in tow, is expected to put in at Callao, Peru, later today.

At Callao, 1,500 miles from the tow's starting point at Concepcion, the tug will take on food and oil for the 5,161 miles to Honolulu.

Final leg will be another 3,400 miles to Yokohama, the tug's home port, where the 30,000-ton battleship will be broken up for scrap. The tug is owned by the Island Tug & Barge Co.

'Panicked at the Wrong Time'
— Ex-Convict at Robbery Trial

A 29-year-old ex-convict, who said he "panicked at the wrong time," feared arrest for impaired driving and tried to escape, was tried Tuesday in connection with the robbery of Cloverly Service Station in Saanich May 29.

Frank Cross, Chandler Hotel, pleaded not guilty in Saanich police court to theft over $50 value. He spoke in his own defence and was remanded for judgment to next Tuesday.

Police allege Cross drove up to the station at Cook and Quadra for gasoline while an accomplice took a till containing about $130 from the office. Prosecutor Kenneth Murphy said the other person has not been located and the case is still being investigated.

"I just panicked at the wrong time," Cross said.

"I'M PEGGED"

"I just figured if there's anything wrong here I'm pegged for it, or for impaired driving. A natural target, being only five days out of the pen."

The till was taken about 7 p.m. as part-time attendant Walter A. Melnick stood duty alone, court was told. He said Cross drove up, asked for $1 worth of gas, tire and radiator check without leaving his car.

After finding the till gone and calling police, Melnick saw the car driven by Cross go by the station and stop nearby, court was told.

Melnick said he called to the accused to wait, he wanted to ask him something, but Cross pulled away as police drew up.

"I identified myself and hollered to him to stop," Det. Sgt. Joseph Armstrong said, "but the car drove off."

Cross' car sped away down Cloverdale, the police car in pursuit.

He was captured minutes later near Hudson's Bay Co. warehouse on Cloverdale, apparently after trying to get a ride away from the scene on a passerby's car.

"I admit going in to get some gas," Cross told the court. "After that I drove around the block and went back."

"This guy started hollering at me and I couldn't make out exactly what he said."

The accused said he had been released from penitentiary only five days earlier after serving a seven-year sentence.

"I did a little celebrating that day, Your Honor. I won't say I was drunk. But I heard someone say 'police' and I did not want to get picked up for impaired driving."

NO THREATS

Cross said after the chase down Cloverdale he hid by lying down in tall grass behind the warehouse.

"I saw a detective go by, then I got up and walked over to this car."

"I didn't threaten him or anything... I just said let's get out of here."

The prosecutor said the evidence speaks for itself, that the accused had a confederate who stole the cash register and Cross' story about fearing arrest for impaired driving was part of a "tissue of lies."

First Crown witness was Dr. E. L. McNiven, who said he examined Cross about 8.45 p.m. and found him "slightly" under the influence of alcohol.

Cpl. Leslie Ledson found the cash register behind the service station, some coins spilled out and others with credit vouchers still inside. A total of $41.13 was recovered, Sgt. Armstrong said.

Motorist Phillip L. DeCosta, 60 Sims, said he stopped his car near the warehouse and Cross came from behind it, calling to him.

"Hey, wait a minute, buddy," "He got in the car, grabbed my shirt... and said 'get going or I'll smash you.' He was sort of crouched down in the seat."

Mrs. Ruth K. Corke, 3375 Quadra, said she and her husband spoke with a young man who knocked on their door a half block from Cloverly Service Station May 29 about 7 p.m.

Mr. Corke found a 10-cent piece in the garden about the same time and they decided to talk with police at the service station, court was told.

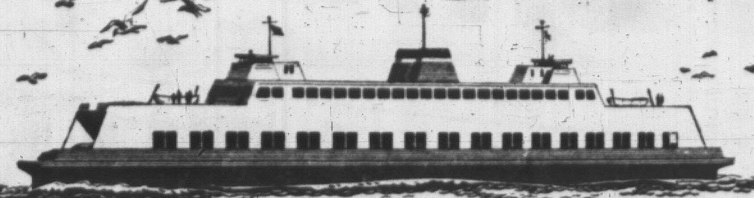

Mr. and Mrs. Corke found a fern bed, previously level, had been "heaped up a bit. We could see one or two coins." Police dug the bed and found $4.53 in coins.

COMOX OFFICER TAKES SALUTE AT SIDNEY

150 See Cadets Parade For First Inspection

(From Duncan Bureau)

DUNCAN — It's "spit 'n polish" this week for army cadets, who are preparing for the annual ceremonial inspection of No. 2422 Canadian Scottish Army Cadet Corps to be held in the Duncan Armoury Friday starting at 8 p.m.

Inspecting officer will be Lieut.-Col. Desmond G. Crofton of Ganges, former commanding officer of the 1st Battalion Canadian Scottish overseas. Capt. J. Forbes of Vancouver, cadet training officer for this area, will attend. A total of 25 well-drilled young cadets will take part in the ceremonial inspection. Cadet ranks were reduced this week when eight lads signed up for the Army Soldier Apprentice Training Scheme.

PROGRAM

Inspection program will be as follows: ceremonial inspection by Lieut.-Col. Crofton and march-past; demonstration of range work, field craft, wireless and signals and small arms.

Following the inspection guests will be served refreshments in the mess.

BEST CADET MAKES IT TWO IN ROW

NANAIMO — Warrant Officer William Purdy, a student of Nanaimo Senior High School, has for the second year in a row been declared cadet of the year.

Cadet Purdy, 18, received his honor at the annual Nanaimo Air Cadet Squadron inspection.

He will visit Washington, D.C., New York and other U.S. centres next month on an exchange with a U.S. air cadet who will be coming to Canada.

MONTH'S RAIN FALLS IN ONE MISERABLE DAY

NANAIMO — The rainfall in 24 hours Monday and Tuesday almost topped the average for the complete month of June, the weather office has announced.

A total of 1.24 inches deluged Nanaimo in the one-day period, as compared to the average Nanaimo June rainfall of 1.62 inches. It was a one-day record for June.

Cadets Shine Up For Big Parade

SIDNEY — First annual parade and inspection of 676 Kinsmen Air Cadet Squadron of Sidney was held Tuesday evening at Patricia Bay Airport before a crowd of 150 parents and guests.

Inspecting officer was Wing Cmdr. H. E. Bridges of the Comox RCAF station, who inspected the boys, took the salute at their march-past, and gave them a short address.

Trophies were presented by their donors and winners were as follows: Cadet Sgt. George C. Vanderkracht, 16, Sidney Kinsmen trophy for best NCO; LAC Eric Luttman, 18, Sidney Rotary Club marksmanship trophy; Cadet Bill Chatterton, 16, Sidney and North Saanich Chamber of Commerce hobby-craft award for best junior cadet; Cpl. Douglas Alexander, 15, Sqdn. Ldr. A. W. Sharp trophy for best drill cadet.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for visiting officials and parents and guests of cadets at Patricia Bay Armoury.

The squadron, which boasts 46 boys, will celebrate its first anniversary July 3. Already it is taking an active part in activities of the navy, army and air force cadets in the Greater Victoria area.

Search Dropped For Missing Man

ALERT BAY — RCMP here have called off the search for Jeff Coglan, 62, who failed to complete a 45-mile trip May 25 from Allison Harbor to Smith Inlet on the mainland in his 14-foot craft.

No trace of the missing man has been found despite a thorough air-sea rescue search.

Ferry Manager To Head Appeal

NANAIMO — John Dunham, manager for Black Ball Ferries Ltd. here, has been appointed campaign manager for the annual United Appeal here this year.

Newest organization to join in the appeal is the Nanaimo Air Cadet Squadron, which was supported previously by the local Lions Club.

FILTER PLANT GIVEN BY GYROS FOR POOL

PORT ALBERNI — A filtration plant, courtesy of the Gyro Club of the Alberni Valley, will be installed in the city swimming pool.

The $4,350 gift will save an estimated 1,000,000 gallons of water each month during the summer and cut down on the costs of heating and chlorinating the pool.

The city undertook maintenance and installation of the plant.

Anthology To Include 'Pink Lady'

QUALICUM BEACH — Roland Goodchild, well-known Vancouver writer, now resident here, who has already received a request from Stanley Richards, New York play agent, to be allowed to include his comedy "The Pink Lady" in an anthology of one-act plays by Canadian authors he is publishing later this summer.

The "Lady" won the award for "best play by Canadian author" in the B.C. Drama Festival in 1957. For her re-appearance in distinguished company she will adopt a new title, "The Grand Duchess."

Other playwrights to be featured in the volume include Robertson Davies, Norman Williams, Elda Cadogan, Catherine Brickenden and Edwy Peconier. It will also include articles by Tom Patterson, founder of the Stratford (Ontario) Festival, Dick McDonald, of the Dominion Drama Festival, and Hugh Kemp, editor-in-chief of the CBC script department, Toronto.

Kinsmen Work On Park Projects At Chemainus

(From Duncan Bureau)

CHEMAINUS — Members of Chemainus Kinsmen Club face a busy period of volunteer work on parks in this area.

Work parties will turn out at the community-developed Chemainus Park at Fuller's Lake tonight and Sunday to complete the pouring of cement foundations for picnic tables, and again on the regular club meeting night to work at Kinsmen Park.

Park committee chairman Jack Miller asked members to bring rakes, hoes, lawn shears and paint brushes to the club playground and park here, and warned that other work parties will be called through the summer to maintain the park and beach areas.

President Earl McColl reported plans are well in hand to hire a lifeguard for duty at the beach during July and August. The club has raised close to $500 for the lifeguard fund to date, he said, but another $250 is still needed.

A letter from MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd., Chemainus division, enclosed a cheque in the amount of $100 for the lifeguard fund.

The club's end-of-season party will be held at Mt. Brenton Golf Club on June 20 with the Kinsmen Club in charge of arrangements.

Annual installation of incoming Kinsmen and Kinette officers will be at the Legion Hall on Sept. 26.

Retarded Children Class Under Study

PARKSVILLE — Parksville Women's Institute is considering the possibilities of forming a class for retarded children.

Mrs. Jack Tryon, a spokesman for the group, said that the matter came up for discussion at their June meeting.

A classroom is reported to be available for Quilicum school district, provided that 10 or more children will attend.

Mrs. Tryon has asked that all persons interested in the proposal get in touch with her.

VANCOUVER ISLAND ROUNDUP

Pt. Alberni Draws Up New Set Of Closing Laws for Garages

PORT ALBERNI — Service station closing hours will be regulated by a bylaw which city council formulated this week.

Proposed regulations will call for a 7 p.m. closing time October to April inclusive; a 9 p.m. closing time May to September, with provisions for permits to be issued for 9 p.m. closing on Fridays through April.

Provisions also will be established whereby permits may be revoked in cases where terms are not observed.

Harbor Pile Driving Co. of Nanaimo has been awarded a $99,157 contract for harbor improvements at Fords Cove, Hornby Island, the federal public works department announced today.

Contract of $43,756 has been awarded to Greggall Bros. of Burnaby for construction of RCMP detachment headquarters at Alert Bay.

Another Old-Timer Succumbs

QUALICUM BEACH — Death Saturday of Mrs. Ellen May Good in St. Joseph's Hospital, Comox, added one more to the toll of pioneer residents of this part of the island who have died in recent weeks.

The widow of Percival L. Good, who predeceased her in 1947, Mrs. Good was born in Gloucester, England, 78 years ago. She and her husband came to Canada in 1890, settling first in Nanaimo. In 1920 they came to Qualicum Beach where Mrs. Good was living before her death.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. R. J. McQuillan, Courtenay, and Mrs. E. C. Goodman, Vancouver; two sons and one stepson, Leonard Good, Courtenay; Chester Good, Qualicum Beach, and Arthur Good, Nanaimo; two sisters and one brother, Mrs. Charles Tippet, Nanaimo; Mrs. F. N. Thurlborn, Qualicum Beach, and Samuel Crump, Qualicum Beach; 17 grandchildren and 28 great-grandchildren.

Cobb Heads Graders At Chemainus

(From Duncan Bureau)

CHEMAINUS — Les Cobb, with an average of 92.6 per cent, headed a list of MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd., Chemainus division employees passing B.C. Lumber Manufacturers' grading-examinations.

He was closely followed by Rod Bourke who received 90.5 per cent.

The company will make cash awards to those passing the exams on the following basis: 85 per cent and over, $25; 80 to 85 per cent, $20; 75 to 80 per cent, $15; 70 to 75 per cent, $10.

Complete results of the examinations were as follows:

R. L. Cobb, 92.6; Rod Bourke, 90.5; J. Wilkinson, 85.4; B. Barlund, 85.3; Albert Manke, 85.2; Alfred Binder, 85; J. A. MacDonald, 85; T. I. McEwan, 85; N. C. Morrison, 85; Robert M. Plant Albinism: Is It Caused By Radiation?

By IAN SMITH

Can atomic radiation be affecting the flowers of Victoria?

This question has been raised by Freeman King, noted for his interest in wildlife, after he and a number of other city botanists noticed a wide incidence of albinism in local plants this year.

The phenomenon has been noted by Dr. Adam Szczawinski, of the Provincial Museum; Miss M. Melburn, of 2397 Heron, a former university instructor in botany; Dr. William Newton, who retired last year after 31 years with the Dominion Experimental Station in Saanich, and many others.

They agree that the flowers mainly affected are the blues and the pinks, which fade or turn white, depending upon the amount of albinism.

It has been noticeable in camass, sea-blush, shooting star and a number of lesser-known flowers, according to Mr. King.

The experts are, for the most part, unwilling to put the blame for the phenomenon on radiation for certain.

More Frequent Today

Most skeptical was Dr. Szczawinski, who explained that "this sort of thing happens frequently."

"In any one particular area there might be more albinism one year than another. It is very uneven in occurrence."

"Around Victoria this year particularly, camass had quite a number of white forms. I have even seen pink ones."

"But it's not too unusual, although particularly noticeable this year."

Dr. Newton had a ready answer.

"There's no doubt about it; these mutations are more frequent today than they were 10 years ago, and fallout has increased during the same period."

"From now on we're bound to get a higher incidence of mutation, since the percentage of retrogressive mutation increases proportionally to radioactivity."

He stated, however, that while radiation may be a cause, he believes that the high incidence of albinism also can be attributed to large numbers of disease-carrying aphids this year.

But this, he said, does not lessen the danger of radiation.

"It can't affect plants too much in the long run, you know, because living competition among plants is very keen. Any plants with retrogressive mutations get smothered and the defects die out."

Plants Serve as Gauge

"But not so with humans; you don't knock out people. Life competition among humans is nil, which means that the race will get weaker as the number of defects increases."

"It's like diabetes; in a few generations, most of the people in the world will be sufferers because instead of the disease killing people, modern medicine keeps them alive and they can pass it on to their children."

These defects do not show up right away with humans—but the plants, with a new generation every year, can serve as a gauge, he said.

And, says Dr. Newton: "Mutation among plants is more frequent now. Thus, it is apparent that radiation is affecting them."

Miss Melburn states she has an open mind on the subject.

"There is a great incidence of albinism this year, especially among the camass . . . much more than usual, far more than in any other year since I came to Victoria eight years ago."

"But I wouldn't know what to attribute it to; I know some people suspect fallout, but I couldn't say one way or the other."

moon nearer?

U.S. Rocket Booster Tops Soviet Best

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dr. Werner von Braun, the army's missile expert, said today the United States is working on a rocket booster that is more powerful than anything the Russians are known to have.

Von Braun said the national aeronautics and space administration is working on the project as part of the plan to explore the moon and the planets beyond.

"Known as Project Saturn, it will yield a booster unit development about one and one-half million pounds of thrust—large enough to do some really important work in space with payloads far in excess of anything attempted so far," Von Braun told the Rotary International convention.

'Beacon of Hope' Prisons Underplaying Custody Role

The role of modern prisons as "beacons of hope" rather than places of despair was described by B.C. Penitentiary Warden F. C. B. Cummins Tuesday.

Addressing a luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club at the Empress Hotel, the head of New Westminster's 729-inmate federal penitentiary stressed the efforts of authorities to implement recreation and rehabilitation.

"In the old days," he said, "the emphasis was on custody rather than treatment of inmates."

'OUR DUTY'

"Nearly all inmates eventually return to society and it is our duty to prepare them for their return."

He said that available recreational and therapeutic programs included 18 trades or vocations, numerous academic courses, hobbies with facilities for sale of products, radio, books, and motion picture shows.

Printers End Strike

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (Reuters)—Icelandic printers Tuesday ended an eight-day strike by giving up demands for higher wages in the face of a government decision not to allow any increase. Newspapers will reappear starting Thursday. The printers had demanded a 15 per cent wage increase.

Sports were not neglected either, he said, and the prison had its own softball team which took part in an outside league "although our games are, of course, all home games."

He described the William Head institution as "a step in the direction which has been highly recommended during the recent Canadian Correctional conference" in Vancouver.

Warden Cummins paid tribute to priests, clergymen, social workers, and educators for the work they did in "fitting inmates for a normal life."

C of C Asks Ottawa To Study Economies

OTTAWA (CP)—The executive council of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce said Tuesday it is "mandatory" that government expenditures be held down. It urged the government to establish a body to see where savings can be made.

The new commission should have power to re-examine the entire tax structure as well as survey every facet of government spending, the chamber's executive council said in a brief to the Senate committee on finance.

The Senate committee is undertaking a study of the threat of inflation in Canada.

KELOWNA PERMANENT JAYCEE HEADQUARTERS

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP) — Kelowna has been chosen as the permanent headquarters for the Junior Chambers of Commerce in British Columbia.

The subject was discussed at last week's convention in Nelson but was not confirmed until today, said Robert Gordon of Kelowna, a member of the executive.

Kelowna's central location and its facilities were factors in the decision.

Edward Dickens of Kelowna, past district president for the Okanagan, has been named assistant to provincial president Wilfred Dowd of Burnaby.

ANTI-BOXING FACTION READY FOR NEXT ROUND

LONDON (Reuters) — Parliament will be asked to stand in as referee in a new fight in Britain between the opponents and supporters of boxing.

Dr. Edith Summerskill, Labor Party legislator and consistent campaigner against the sport, said today she intends to ask the government next week to set up a committee to report on the dangers of boxing and its bad effect on the public.

Round one of the new battle against boxing opened last week with an appeal by The Lancet, a medical weekly, to the medical profession to campaign for its total abolition.

ANOTHER SLANT

By OSCAR FRALEY

MAMARONECK, N.Y. — There was nothing jovial about jaunty Jimmy Demaret today as he braced the approaching U.S. Open golf championship "a ridiculous farce."

Demaret, the three-time Masters champion, is annoyed at the new qualifying system which the U.S. Golf Association instituted this year. Under the system, there are very few exemptions and some of golf's greatest stars had to go through two qualifying rounds before becoming eligible for the tourney that starts here Thursday.

JIMMY DEMARET

Demaret and former U.S. Open champion Lloyd Mangrum, who together still could play any two golfers in the world—simply refused to undergo the indignity of having to qualify in such a lengthy, roundabout fashion.

Sam Snead, one of the world's greatest shotmakers and a man who has won more tournaments than any player in history, sweated it out and barely made it. He had to sink a five-foot birdie putt on the final hole to get in. Some of the other greats didn't make it, men like long-hitting George Bayer, Gene Sarazen, Jim Turnesa, former champion Lew Worsham, Porky Oliver and Billy Joe Patton.

"Can you imagine making Snead qualify?" Demaret asked indignantly. "This is somewhat like holding an all-star game and saying to Hank Aaron that all of the hitters would have to show up on a certain day with the man getting the most hits being eligible. If Hank went hitless and Smokey Joe from Kokomo went three for four, he'd get in the all-star game and Aaron wouldn't qualify."

Demaret's theory is that proven skill should get a top player an invitation to the Open, including all past winners of the Open, PGA and Masters, as well as the top 30 money winners on the pro tour.

"They make it a game of luck," he said. "There are a number of players in there who should have to pay their way in. But they get not on two days—those qualifying days—and better players with greater ability have to sit it out. It's a real joke."

The happy-go-lucky Texan, now head pro at the Concord Hotel in Kiamiesha Lake, N.Y., shoots sparks from his usually merry blue eyes when he considers the format instituted this year. It is set up so that only 20 players qualify automatically for the tournament proper.

These include the British Open and British Amateur kings, the home club pro, the U.S. Amateur champion and PGA champion, the last five champions—Ed Furgol, Jack Fleck, Cary Middlecoff, Dick Mayer and Tommy Bolt—and the first 10 and ties of last year. That includes Julius Boros, Gene Littler, Walt Burkemo, Bob Rosburg, Jay Hebert, Dick Metz, Don January, Frank Stranahan, Tommy Jacobs and Ben Hogan.

"How do you like that for a real joke?" Demaret asked. "If Hogan—the four-time winner—hadn't been in the first 10 last year he would have had to qualify through those two rounds this year."

"Now, understand," he added, "I'm not knocking John Brodie, the quarterback of the San Francisco 49ers. He's a fine player and he qualified. But can you imagine him being in the tournament and Sam Snead sitting on the sidelines?"

Or Demaret?

"I'm not given to blowing my own horn too hard," he grinned. "But I'd like to play Brodie for all the oil in Texas or all the gold in California. But he's in and I'm out—because I wouldn't be embarrassed by failing to qualify."

Demaret also takes exception to remarks by Tommy Armour, the old Silver Scot, that the courses in the old days were 10 strokes harder than now.

"They were 10 strokes easier," he exploded. "They've been stretched out in recent years. Then, too, in the old days they used that little ball you could hit 800 miles and the fairways weren't watered. Tougher then, honey."

Yet that was merely a side detour. And Jimmy put the icing on the cake when he said:

"If Hogan and Snead hadn't qualified, I could get together with them and Mangrum and put on a tournament across the road—and I'll guarantee we'd outdraw the Open. As I said, the way they're running it now is strictly from hunger."

CENTURY CLUB

SOLARIUM DERBY

Ray Sparkes is a man who believes everyone should spend some time helping others.

Because of the wish to contribute something to the happiness and welfare of other people, Ray started selling tickets for the annual Solarium Derby in 1957. Now he is making it a yearly habit and this is again one of the first to become eligible for the Century Club, open to those who sell more than 100 tickets to the one-day fishing competition at Saanich Inlet.

"I like to feel that I have done something to make life a bit better for other people," says Ray, "and I get extra satisfaction out of the knowledge that I am helping crippled youngsters at the Solarium through my work for the derby."

Since it was started in 1946, the Solarium Derby, jointly sponsored by the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association and The Daily Times, has raised more than $64,000 for the hospital.

Ray will be happy to either tell you how the derby helps the Solarium or to sell you a ticket for this year's derby if you give him a call at EV 2-4835.

SPRINT-CAR BOSS PREDICTS...

They Noticed That Big Speedway Crowd

Bob Simpson has always been enthusiastic about car racing, but this season the Victoria driver-mechanic seems to be going overboard.

Bob, who eagerly follows what goes on around Washington and Oregon tracks, believes that Indianapolis styled sprint cars are running towards their best ever season at Western Speedway.

The big cars will be back at the Langford oval this Saturday and Simpson predicts a record turnout of spectators from Pacific Northwest points.

Recently returned from a number of meets in Tacoma, Portland and Seattle, the president of the Island's sprint-car fraternity reports increased interest in Island racing on the part of American drivers.

"He feels the record speedway turnout of almost 6,000 fans May 18 for a dual meet is partially responsible. 'We've always had a good solid core of regulars coming to Victoria. Some of the drivers who previously weren't interested in racing here were asking me a lot of questions. It seems that turnout opened a lot of eyes," Simpson said.

Simpson mentioned that Seattle's Del Fanning, a West Coast "regular," entered his Ranger roadster in a 35-car meet at Sacramento, Calif. Fanning, averaging 135 miles per hour on the mile and a half track, won one heat and finished second in the overall point picture that day.

Another Fanning-built Ranger, Simpson said, was driven by Ray Wearn of Seattle and finished third.

Wearn, who won the trophy dash here May 18, Fanning's first main-event winner of the season, and Portland's Ernie Koch will head Saturday's U.S. entries. Koch, the Northwest's leading driver in 1958 and winner of the Portland Memorial Day meet, was unable to make the trip to Victoria for the season's first big-car program.

Wild Bill Hyde, Paul Pold, Bob Burgess, Ray Laing, Al Schilling, Smokey Blake, Bob Crawford and Bob Gregg are other "regulars" returning to compete against Island throttle-pushers.

A main event, trophy dash and four heat races will make up the program. Times trials start at 7:30.

WILL HE MAKE IT?

Goal of Hank Aaron is to hit above 400 for season and Milwaukee outfielder takes look at picture of Bill Terry, last National Leaguer to top 400 mark. Aaron, who always said he might attain that figure if he got a good start, is currently slugging at .415 clip. (NEA).

HANK WATCHES STRIKE ZONE NOW

Aaron Passes Rajah's Test

PHILADELPHIA (NEA) — With the start he has, Henry Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves could hit 400.

So says Rogers Hornsby, one of eight major leaguers to bat 400 or better since the turn of the century.

"Aaron pays more attention to the strike zone now," says The Rajah, batting coach of the Chicago Cubs. "He hits with power to all fields. That's the test of a hitter, hitting the ball where it's pitched, provided it's in the strike zone.

"Aaron is a wrist hitter, but all good hitters are. That's where they get their power, snapping into the ball. Somebody said Aaron had marvellous hips. You don't hit the ball with your hips. What he does have is a smooth pivot that gives him power. Guys who straddle or bat flat-footed are arm hitters.

"Aaron gets his body into the swing"

Durability Didn't Secure Johnny's Job With Wings

MONTREAL (CP) — Johnny Wilson, the iron man of the National Hockey League, finds himself with a brand new club today as the NHL swings into final sessions amid rumors of new deals before the draft call.

Detroit Red Wings announced Tuesday night they had traded Wilson and farmland Frank Roggeveen to Toronto Maple Leafs in exchange for Barry Cullen.

It was the first full-fledged deal announced. New York Rangers said they had made "a couple of deals," with details to be made known later.

Other clubs disclaimed any swaps but made it plain they are receptive to offers up to the minute the intra-league draft, at $20,000 a player, gets underway this afternoon.

PICK ONLY FOUR

Only four players were picked up by NHL clubs Tuesday in the draft from the Western Hockey League.

Meanwhile, representatives of the American League went into a night huddle with top officials of Montreal Royals and Quebec Aces with the result that prospects were reported brighter for admission of the two Quebec clubs into the AHL.

The deal for Wilson came as something of a surprise. With the end of last season he rounded out 518 consecutive games in the NHL for a league record. His string started in the 1951-52 season with Detroit. He served two seasons with Chicago Black Hawks before returning to the Red Wings in the 1957-58 season.

Roggeveen is a dual defence-man-forward who played last season with Edmonton of the Western Hockey League.

DEAL REPORTED

It was reported that the Leafs had promptly dealt him off to Springfield of the AHL in exchange for an unnamed forward who will go to New Westminster Royals. But President Eddie Shore of the

Pads Hack Away At Solons' Lead

By The Associated Press

The skidding Sacramento Solons dropped their fourth straight game Tuesday night and saw their Pacific Coast League lead over the San Diego Padres dwindle down to a mere one and a half games.

While the Solons were getting drubbed, 5-2, at the hands of the Spokane Indians, the Pads were hanging a 6-1 defeat on the Vancouver Mounties.

Phoenix Giants used home-run power to batter the Seattle Rainiers, 10-9, and Salt Lake City Bees beat off a late Portland rally to nail the Beavers, 10-8.

The Injuns and Solons were tied at 1-1 going into the eighth inning, but Spokane picked off the victory with a four-run spurge in that frame. Tom Davis tripled in three runs, then scored himself on an error. Connie Grob picked up his seventh victory in 10 decisions with a nine hitter.

TWO HOMERS

Bobby Locke, the winning pitcher, and Bill Moran both homered for the Padres. Locke held the Mounties to eight hits while his mates combed three Vancouver pitchers for 13 safeties. The defeat went to Erv Palica and evened his record at 4-4.

The Beavers, trailing by a 10-6 count going into the ninth, scored twice on three walks and singles by Russ Snyder and George Freese, but reliever Ed Bauta got Lennie Neal on a groundout to end the game.

Jerry Found Out It's Not All Fun

Labatts Bombed; O'Keefe's Meet Rocks for Lead

It was a short holiday for Jerry Shires.

Shires stepped in the Intercity Lacrosse League wars for the first time when goalie Fred Fulla was injured in the second period at Nanaimo last Saturday and turned in a spectacular effort as Labatts earned a 9-9 tie with Victoria Shamrocks.

He tried his luck again at Vancouver Tuesday night and found no joy in boxla living. Before the smoke had cleared, the rookie netminder had faced a barrage of 51 shots and 20 times had to fish the ball out of his nets.

Carlings, perhaps revived by the return to the fold of Ron Hemmerling, outplayed Labatts all the way and gleefully took target practice at the youthful Shires as they romped to a 20-6 triumph and climbed within one point of third-place New Westminster O'Keefe's.

TIGHT SCRAMBLE

Vancouver's victory, which snapped a six-game losing skid, pulled the string a little tighter on league standings, leaving only a three-point spread between first and last place.

The result left the road open for either O'Keefe's or the Shamrocks to take over sole possession of the top berth when they tangle at Memorial Arena tonight. The Rocks are currently deadlocked with Labatts for the lead, one point in front of O'Keefe's.

Thrown off stride when Skip MacKay came up with one of his rare poor performances, the Nanaimo defence gave Shires little protection and never seemed to be able to cope with the fast-moving Vancouver forwards, who seemed to take on new life with Hemmerling back in action.

Playing before 1,100 fans, Hemmerling, who has been playing hockey in Great Britain, made an impressive return to lacrosse, firing three goals and picking up two assists.

Bill Chisholm scored four goals, Wayne Pecknold tallied three times and Pete Black, Gordie Gimble and Alex Carey helped make life miserable for Shires by scoring two goals each.

MacKay, who managed only one shot on goal, was held to one assist. Gary Moore was the most effective of the Nanaimo snipers, nothing two tallies. Don Ashbee, John Lumley, Norm Kowalek and Mike Good accounted for the other Labatt goals.

Labatts fired only 22 shots at Dave Unwin in the Vancouver nets.

Just our luck to discover gold here! If this gets out it'll ruin our secret fishing spot!

Parker's Pair Spark Jokers

With Norm Parker firing two goals to set the pace, Jokers came up with a 6-3 victory over Foul Bay in Senior "B" Lacrosse League action at Stevenson Park, Tuesday evening.

Single goals went to Paul Calve, Whitey Wakelyn, Jim Lewis and Brian Holness for the winners, while Gary Taylor, Ken Barnes and Mel Davison hit for Foul Bay.

NOT THE ORIOLES!

Who Needs The Homer?

By UP International
Shades of John McGraw and the other fabled old Orioles, but did you see how the modern Orioles stormed into first place on a three-run bunt?

Wee Willie Keeler himself never laid down a more productive bunt and Old Wilbert (Uncle Robbie) Robinson would have approved the way Willie Tasby just kept on running, while the Cleveland Indians were throwing the ball where their teammates weren't.

It all happened in the fifth inning Tuesday night when the fabulous bunt led to a 7-3 victory and sent the Orioles soaring into a tie with the Chicago White Sox for the American League lead — the first time in the modern history of the club it has occupied or shared the top rung.

BUMPER CROWD

Of course, a couple of "rabbit ball" homers by Gene Woodling and Chico Carrasquel did help out but the big moment for the second largest crowd in Baltimore's baseball history came when Paul Richards told Tasby to bunt with none out, two runners on via walks and the Indians leading, 3-2, in the fifth inning.

Tasby — flying down that line like Seabiscuit himself — beat it out for a single and both runners scored to put the Orioles in front, 4-3, when pitcher Mudcat Grant threw the ball into right field. That also let Tasby reach third base and the not-so-Wee Willie streaked home when Rocky Colavito threw wildly to the edge of the stands.

YANKEES CLIMB

Washington Senators gave the Orioles an assist when they topped the White Sox, 7-4. New York Yankees reached the first division for the first time since April 25 with a 13-inning, 9-8 victory over Kansas City Athletics and the Boston Red Sox ended Detroit Tigers' four-game winning streak, 5-2, in other American League games.

San Francisco Giants beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-2, and moved within two games of the National League lead when the St. Louis Cardinals routed the first-place Milwaukee Braves, 12-3. Los Angeles Dodgers shaded the Philadelphia Phillies, 3-2, and the Chicago Cubs beat Cincinnati, 8-4.

Pages Content To Share Rungs

Pages stepped from one tie to another Tuesday night at Royal Athletic Park, but they bettered themselves considerably in the Senior Amateur Baseball League standings.

Starting the game tied in third place, Pages walloped Wakeman-Trimbale, 8-1, to join Eagles on the league's second-place rung.

Tonight, Eagles get a chance to break the tie and to step up to a share of first place when they meet leading Naval Vets, starting at 7 p.m.

Des Moseley again was the winner for Pages Tuesday, bringing his record for the season so far to three wins and a loss, the best on the club.

Russia Tries Credit Sales

MOSCOW (AP) — Instalment buying in the Soviet Union appears to be foundering on the rocks of government indecision.

Izvestia, government newspaper, tells of a government store manager in Khabarovsk who was encouraged to try selling goods on credit by the trade minister of the Russian Federation, largest of the Soviet republics.

In two days he sold 55,000 rubles worth of high priced goods such as radios, watches and motorcycles but then was ordered to stop the experiment for fear of "trade difficulties." He said a decision on continuing credit sales now was back before the federation cabinet.

Izvestia quoted another manager at Nikolaev who said the credit plan was working successfully there with the sale of more than a million rubles worth of bicycles, motorcycles, radios and other articles.

The ruble equals 10 cents at the tourist rate of exchange.

The Nikolaev manager said credit buying had been proposed by the federation trade minister but never officially approved.

Labor Unrest Denied

PRAGUE (Reuters) — The official Czechoslovak news agency Ceteka, Tuesday denied a report that Czech police fired on workers protesting against forced labor in mines at Brezno, southeast Czechoslovakia. "So-called forced labor does not exist in Czechoslovakia nor have any disturbances occurred," Ceteka said.

Helps You Overcome FALSE TEETH Looseness and Worry

No longer be annoyed or feel ill-at-ease because of loose, wobbly false teeth. FASTEETH, an improved alkaline (non-acid) powder, sprinkled on your plates holds them firmer so they feel more comfortable. Avoid embarrassment caused by loose plates. Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

'BUY ON TIME' GREAT SPORT IN PANAMA

PANAMA (AP) — Panamanians are such ardent gamblers that even instalment buying is pegged to the government's weekly lottery.

You want to buy a $100 radio on time? You sign up to pay $10 a week for 12 weeks. That amounts to considerably more than the original $100 price. But the lottery gimmick brings in customers by the droves.

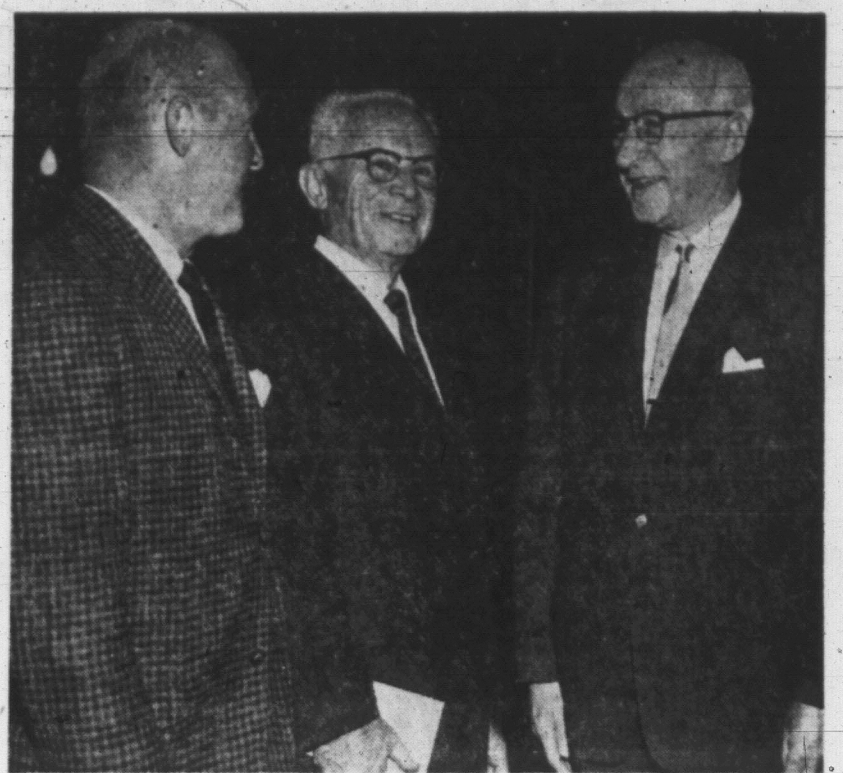

Once you sign the contract, you may choose any number from 00 to 99. If your number comes up as the last two digits in the winning lottery number any week your payments stop. You've won.

Some customers win in the first week or two. That puts them ahead of the game—and whets their appetite for a $1,000 dining room set.

The majority—and merchants admit this—just pray for a lucky day.

Tiny Republic Helped

ROME (AP) — The United States signed an agreement Tuesday to finance an $850,000 water system for the tiny republic of San Marino.

SUPER-SALESMEN for New York Life Insurance, are father-son team, Isaac and Herbert Kibrick, here with president Clarence J. Myers, right.

FATHER-SON TEAM

They're So Good It's Monotonous

Among the top money makers of the New York Life Insurance Company, whose gold-plated salesmen are in convention here, is a father-son team named Kibrick. Isaac S. Kibrick, 66, of Boston, Mass., has been with the company 44 years and since formation of the "million-dollar round table" a quarter of a century ago, has sold his million dollars each year with almost monotonous regularity. His son, Herbert, was born in 1915, "and that's why I went into the insurance business," said Kibrick Sr. Herbert, with NYLIC 21 years, except for an army stint, comes from Boston, Mass., 20 miles from where his father lives. He sold $4,000,000 worth of insurance policies last year!

Inflation Hits Bonds Broker Says

BANFF, Alta. (CP) — Canadian investment dealers were told Tuesday the public has lost confidence in federal government bonds.

E. H. Ely, of Toronto, president of the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada, was speaking to the group's annual conference.

The public's confidence has deteriorated during the last year, he said, because of the government's spending policy and its inflationary implications.

He said investors have tended to shift their savings from government investments into the stock market, hoping to check government spending. As a result, the capital market seems distorted and out of balance.

"There is such a wide spread between interest on gilt-edge bonds and return on blue-chip stocks. Does it make sense for governments to be paying 5 1/2 per cent to borrow money when many corporate equities yield only 2 1/2 per cent?"

KKK Arson Attempt

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — An attempt was made early Tuesday to burn the home of Arkansas Secretary of State C. G. Hall, just a day after he said he would have refused to allow incorporation of the Ku Klux Klan if it could have been prevented legally.

Boy Improving, Father Gets Job

The hard-hit Bradasch family of Saanich were able to smile a little today.

First, Wolfgang Bradasch, the 10-year-old boy who received burns to 80 per cent of his body Sunday, was reported in "improved" condition in St. Joseph's Hospital "after a good night."

Secondly, the 40-year-old father, Willi Bradasch, Tuesday given a suspended sentence for welfare fund offences, started at Yarrow's shipyard today as a $98-a-week welder.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Bradasch and the six other children in the family—one only 10 days old—have received money, food and clothing from many well-wishers.

Saanich social welfare administrator Frank Heaton asks would-be contributors to leave gifts at his office in Saanich Municipal Hall.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Ignac Kadar, 770 Hill, was fined $70 and $5 costs when he pleaded guilty in city police court today to a charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

The accused drove a car in collision with a motorcyclist, knocking the rider off, in Beacon Hill Park.

Kadar said the victim was one of three motorcyclists who blocked his path and refused to move when Kadar asked for room to drive by, he told the court.

The rider was not hurt and his bike was damaged slightly.

A $40,000 expansion which will double the floor space of Island Tug and Barge Ltd., 345 Harbour, is being undertaken by E. J. Hunter and Sons, Architect is R. W. Siddall. The improved premises will link dispatching and operations of office directly with the business offices of the firm. The Island Tug premises are noted for an outdoor marine museum located opposite the Princess Mary restaurant.

Taggers are needed for a Multiple Sclerosis Auxiliary tag day on Saturday, which will raise funds to further research into the disease.

Those interested can register by phoning Mrs. Thelma Mee at EV 4-1566, or may call at tag day headquarters at the Canada Trust Building, Broad and View, on Saturday between 8.30 a.m. and 4.30 p.m.

Motorist Della Emma Robertson, 1117 Yates, was discharged from hospital after treatment for head cuts received when the car she drove was in collision with a car driven by Sarah Jane MacKenzie, 3068 Cedar Hill, at Kings and Blackwood Tuesday at 4.40 p.m.

Marjorie T. Layton, Royal Oak, was fined $10 in city police court today when she pleaded guilty to a charge of displaying a car for sale on Hillside between Douglas and Ross.

The car bore a "for sale" sign in its rear window while on a public street, contrary to a city bylaw.

Clarence W. Kyer, of Victoria, was fined $40 and ordered to pay $383 damages when he appeared in city police court today charged with wilful damage.

Police said Kyer smashed two windows at a house at 546 Alpha.

Margaret Peterson, Victoria artist, will give a lecture-demonstration at the Art Gallery, Moss Street, Thursday at 8.30. Title of the talk, to be illustrated by actual work at the easel and reference to her 50 pictures now on display at the gallery, will be "Is Art Necessary?" Miss Peterson, wife of local author Howard O'Hagan, was formerly a university lecturer and has exhibited in California.

The annual prize-giving and graduation assembly will be held in Oak Bay High School auditorium Friday at 8.15 p.m. Guest speaker will be Dr. Gordon H. Grant, M.D.

The U.S. patrol boat Earl A. Roberts from Blaine, Washington, anchored in Victoria's Inner Harbor today on a routine visit.

Municipalities wishing to unite their councils and school boards into one body would receive consideration by the provincial cabinet, if the school boards are agreeable, Education Minister Leslie Peterson said Tuesday. He was commenting on statements earlier by George Bonner, president of the Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association, who proposed abolition of school boards to reduce costs. Mr. Peterson defended the junior high schools system, which also came under fire from Mr. Bonner.

Theft of a working model two-cylinder steam engine from the rear of his premises at Western Utilities, 547 Cormorant, Monday afternoon, was reported by L. D. Foxgood to city police today.

Changes Sought in Erratic Flow Of Peace River Inside Alberta

Peace River Power Development Co. president W. C. Mainwaring will meet with Alberta government officials at Edmonton next month to discuss alterations in the flow of the Peace in that province following dam construction in B.C.

The company, owned by Wenner-Gren interests, the B.C. Electric and several British shareholders, plans an eventual $1,000,000,000 power development.

BELOVED CHIEF OF NIMPKISH TRIBE DIES AT 89

Coast Indians Alert Bay-Bound for 'Sah-tlah'

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Indians from all parts of B.C.'s west coast are leaving today for Alert Bay to attend a sah-tlah or funeral service for one of their most beloved chiefs.

Dan Crammer, chief of the Nimpkish tribe, an authority on Indian traditions and customs, died early this morning at the age of 89 years.

Full native funeral rites will be performed Thursday for the chief who was widely known for his works of charity among his people.

Chief Crammer was well known by the Canadian and American scientific fraternity dealing with anthropology and archaeology.

He counted among his friends the late Franz Boas, one of the world's most eminent anthropologists, who wrote numerous reports and scientific papers on the Indians of the Northwest coast.

He was the scientist's chief source of information and acted as his interpreter during a tour of British Columbia in the early 90s. He was a friend of Marius Barbeau, well-known retired federal anthropologist.

The chief was well known in Victoria. He attended the potlatch for the dedication of the Royal Totem pole presented to Queen Elizabeth last year.

At his funeral, Indians will follow the ancient native custom of reliving the chief's life by singing his "songs." The songs give a complete report of the chief's work and achievements during his life.

A year from now, a potlatch marking the end of the mourning period will be held at Alert Bay.

The chief's personal belongings then will be distributed to members of his family.

The chief, a believer in reincarnation, is survived by the widow and seven sons and daughters.

Growing Rift Rocking Joint Group

'It's Getting Out

By JOHN MIKA

Checked career of the Greater Victoria inter-municipal committee appears headed for another crisis.

Despite denials today by some members, a growing rift seemed to be shaping up among the mayor and Reeves over the purpose of the committee.

Reeve A. C. Wurtele has charged that the committee "is getting out of hand" in its methods of dealing with the juvenile detention home problem.

He severely criticized the committee's decision to "authorize" the detention home group to hire a replacement for the superintendent.

Reeve Wurtele also opposes a suggestion by Oak Bay Reeve George Murdoch to scrap the home committee and establish intermunicipal committee as the board of management for the Coldharbour Road home.

ADVISORY ONLY

Reeve Wurtele maintains that the intermunicipal committee is only an advisory body without any power to authorize other groups to take action.

"The duty of the members is to discuss common problems and report to their respective councils for action," he said. "No administrative control should be assumed by the committee as it is presently constituted," he said.

Acting Mayor Arthur Dowell and Saanich Reeve George Chatterton both said that the committee is not cracking up.

But they both stood behind Reeve Murdoch's suggestion that intermunicipal committee should take over command of the home situation.

"After all, intermunicipal committee is composed of delegates from all four municipalities and it is all four municipalities that own and operate the home," said Ald. Dowell. "I don't see any objection to it."

He agreed with Reeve Wurtele that intermunicipal committee was "intended only to make recommendations to the councils but he said the decision to authorize hiring of a new superintendent was necessary "in the emergency situation" created by sudden withdrawal of Col. William Dingley.

USEFUL

He added he did not think the differences would cause a split because intermunicipal committee "absolutely is useful to us all."

"I don't think the committee is getting out of hand," said Reeve Chatterton. "Technically, Reeve Wurtele is quite right in saying the committee exceeded its powers but it was a matter of great urgency."

"The action may not have been legal, until ratified by the councils, but it was entirely defensible."

SALUTE FIRED FOR PHILIP

A 21-gun royal salute commemorating the birthday of Prince Philip the Prince Consort was fired at Work Point Barracks at noon today by the 5th B.C. Independent Medium Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery.

MANY FEATURES OF THIS CAR will enable Canadians to obtain a better view of the Queen when she tours Canada with Prince Philip. Workmen demonstrate the removable plexiglass rear window, one of the modifications that will make for greater visibility both from within and without. The Cadillac will be transported by air to keep up with the Royal Couple as they fly from city to city, and will be used across Canada.

$85 IN FINES FOR SHOOTING FROM HIS CAR

Roy Arnold Starck, 826 Craigflower, was fined a total of $85 in Saanich police court Tuesday for shooting game from a car.

He pleaded guilty to charges of firing a .22 rifle in Saanich and fined $50, to shooting game birds out of season and fined $25 and to having a loaded firearm in a car which brought a $10 fine.

Police said Starck shot at a pheasant in a field off Granville at 7.05 p.m. May 17, and was about to close the rifle breech on another cartridge when stopped by an officer.

The court ordered Starck's rifle seized.

Is There Blue Behind Clouds?

Showers were predicted today by the weatherman for tonight and Thursday morning, with partial clearing Thursday afternoon.

A storm causing all the rain and clouds will go by tonight with winds from the east at 20 miles per hour, and will be followed Thursday by westerly winds up to 20 miles.

500 Gasmen Coming Here For Meeting

More than 500 delegates from many parts of Canada and the United States are coming here for the annual meeting of the Canadian Gas Association to be held at the Empress Hotel June 22-24.

They will be welcomed by B.C. Public Works Minister W. N. Chant.

Speakers will include R. R. Blackburn, Pacific Coast Gas Association; Dr. John Davis and Dr. H. L. Purdy of B.C. Electric; F. J. Pluke, Rochester Gas and Electric Corporation; T. L. Robey and J. T. Wolfe of the American Gas Association.

Top executives from Vancouver Island Gas Co. Ltd., Westcoast Transmission Co. Ltd., Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd., the Union Gas Co. of Canada Ltd. and many other leading companies will attend the meeting.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today:

Peter John Campbell, 460 Kingston, $35; Gary C. Parker, 593 Baker, $40; James Leslie Robbins, 126 Regina, $40 for careless driving.

Wilfred Derksen, 2331 Government and Joseph Roy Areshenkoff, 1601 Esquimalt, $25 each for driving without a license.

William Whaley, 350 George East, $20 for changing lanes without proper signal.

Charles Cornelius Mandryk, Parksville, $35 for speeding over 30.

In Saanich police court Tuesday:

Janos Febrik, 1250 Pandora, $35 and licence suspension for failing to heed a stren.

SHAWNIGAN TO GET B.C. PARK

The first provincial park on the Shawnigan Lake Road to Port Renfrew is in planning stages.

A Cabinet order-in-council, approved today, outlined a swap of property held by the province at Sooke for 80 acres on the Koksilah River near Shawnigan Lake on the Port Renfrew Road. The swap was with an unnamed timber interest.

Department officials said there is no early development planned, but eventually the area will become a picnic site administered by the department of recreation and conservation.

The CWC's opinion was sought by city council before it dealt with the Ontario municipality's resolution, sent to all city councils across the country.

Alderman Hurt In Horse Mishap

Victoria's "cowboy" alderman, Geoffrey Edgelow, will be straddling his city council seat at a regular meeting Thursday after being confined to his home all week following a riding accident Sunday. Ald. Edgelow suffered back and leg injuries when his horse rolled on him during an outing.

Sewer Bylaw Looms As Liveliest Issue

Saanich faces the most keenly-contested by-election in years on June 20.

When nominations closed at noon today, seven candidates had filed papers for a single-vacant council seat.

The by-election is to fill a seat left vacant by Charles Nelles, who resigned for personal and business reasons last month.

Perhaps one of the liveliest issues will be the proposed $1,066,000 sewer bylaw to service the Shelbourne, Gordon Head, Cadboro Bay area.

Voters will cast ballots on the sewer bylaw on the same day as the by-election.

Another issue will be council's planning policy to curb "sprawl" development in the municipality aimed at lowering the cost of services.

CANDIDATES

Candidates seeking elections are as follows:

Joseph Casey, former reeve, who is opposed to council's policy of initiating road programs under the local improvement plan.

He is also against some subdivision restrictions enacted mainly to preserve the municipality's borrowing powers.

Robert Fleming, 2490 Sinclair, mill foreman, a former councillor who favors orderly planning.

Mr. Fleming a few years ago served on the council under Reeve Casey. He resigned his seat at the time on the grounds that the reeve's administration was inefficient.

Kenneth S. Price, 1546 Stockton Crescent, contractor, a newcomer in municipal politics, who believes there is need on council for a wider representation from the construction industry.

George Kelman, 4343 Majestic, sales manager, also a newcomer.

Gregory C. Cook, 1091 Laburnum, teacher, who sought election on the council last December.

Victor Howard Clement, 1151 Arrow, estimator who supports the council's town-planning policy.

Albert W. Reid, a retired publisher.

A total of 21,865 residents will be allowed to vote in the by-election, but only ratepayers in the districts concerned will vote on the sewer bylaw.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. In the main entrance to Royal Jubilee Hospital there used to be a blackboard containing names of donors of $500 or more to hospital construction when it was built. A resolution was made "that members of the direct family who donated as above would be allowed free hospitalization." Is the above true and would the resolution still apply? S.S.

A. The administration of the hospital has no knowledge of the "blackboard" of donors. The hospital was built in 1858, so even if the statement concerning "free hospitalization" was correct, chances of any direct descendant—a son or daughter of a donor—being alive is remote.

Q. Any reader who has a question or problem along the lines of "Ask the Times" Editor, Questions and answers will be published daily.

A. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve legal problems, or will attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to specialists.

Wedding Gift: Brass Stand Holds Glass Casseroles

By PENNY SAVER

Housewares are coming prettier and prettier these days! There appears to be a regular movement afoot to make everything that the woman-in-the-kitchen works with brightly colored, attractively shaped, and yet easy to look after.

One happy result of this new trend is that wedding present hunting is turning out to be fun.

A casserole dish is one of those perennial wedding gifts that is always a good choice, always welcome by the young couple. And with the new pretty wares, you can find them both attractively designed and attractively priced.

Makers of bakeproof glass have put out a new line of casseroles. Stuff looks like airy milk glass—is designed with leaf or snowflake motifs. The bride can bake her casserole in them and serve it at the table in the same dish.

This all comes with light 'n' sturdy brass stand—to keep hot dishes from burning table surface. Set of twin casserole dishes on brass stand with handle for easy carrying, dividing the two, costs $7.50.

Another handy item in this ware is an attractive bowl for potato chips—with a smaller one attached to brim by brass wire stand. The bowl dish holds sauce or dip. Price is $5.95.

A clear glass (bakeproof again) coffee pot will add a pretty touch to the newlyweds' breakfast table.

For the smart young moderns, Florence flask shapes and science beaker types are most attractive. With stand holding candle (keeps coffee hot) six-cup size costs $4.95-$5.95.

TODAY'S RECIPE

BAKED CHEESE PUDDING

One cup milk, 1 cup process cheese spread, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1/2 teaspoon granulated sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, three eggs separated (at room temperature), 1 1/2 cups coarse soft bread crumbs, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 3 egg whites (at room temperature).

Grease a 6-cup casserole or baking dish. Preheat oven to 350 deg. F. (moderate).

Scald milk; stir in cheese spread, butter or margarine and sugar. Cook over low direct heat, stirring constantly, until blended. Sprinkle salt over egg whites and beat until stiff but not dry. Beat egg yolks until light; gradually stir in hot cheese mixture and bread crumbs. Fold meringue gently into cheese mixture. Turn into prepared baking dish. Bake in preheated oven, until set and golden brown—about 45 minutes. Serve at once. Yield—5 or 6 servings.

The entire Crystal Garden has been engaged by the Junior Auxiliary to Royal Jubilee Hospital next Tuesday evening for a hair styling and fashion show that promises to be interesting and different. One of the outstanding features will be introduction of colored wigs which are now the vogue in the United States and in Europe. Model Helen Biemes, left, is modelling one of these wigs in the picture above for conveners of the project, Mrs. J. Hunter, right, and Mrs. J. M. Porter. Hair styles and demonstrations will be given by Danny of the House of Glamour and summer apparel shown by Gibson's Ladies' Wear. May Queen Vivi Peterson and Princess Val Parkins and Princess Patricia Pye will be among the 20 mannequins. Proceeds will go to assist with furnishings for the new hospital. Tickets may be obtained from Miss M. Fraser, EV 4-4088; Mrs. K. J. Norgaard, EV 5-2994; House of Glamour, Gibson's, all members of the auxiliary and the Crystal Garden, Tuesday. Show is at 8-15 p.m.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Separate Vacations For Husband, Wife?

This week in the column I am discussing various aspects of the family vacation, and one we should not overlook is that age-old question—whether husbands and wives should vacation separately or together.

I interviewed a distinguished psychiatrist about this and about vacations generally. His immediate response, as you may imagine, was that whether or not a couple should vacation separately or together was dependent on the individuals.

But why don't you "listen in" on part of our conversation?

Doctor: "It depends on how the husband and wife get along together; whether they have fun together and whether or not they enjoy the same things."

Josephine Lowman: "Don't you think it is most often the husband who decides what sort of a vacation it is going to be?"

Doctor: "Yes, I think that is true, probably because the woman has more leisure in her daily life to do things she wants to, while a husband normally does not have as much free time."

Josephine Lowman: "Are there any general mistakes which you feel folks make in their vacations?"

Doctor: "Yes, I feel very strongly about one! Couples should leave their small children at home until they are old enough to add something to the vacation and get something out of it themselves. It is no vacation for the parents to drag their small fry about. It is twice as much trouble taking care of them away from home than it is at home."

Miss Ella Brett New BPW Club President

In annual meeting, Monday evening, members of Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club elected Miss Ella M. Brett as president for the coming year.

Other officers are Miss Ruth Adams, first vice-president; Miss Elizabeth Riddell, second vice-president; Mrs. Lillian Wright, treasurer; Mrs. Eileen Fitz, recording secretary; Miss Molly Chapple, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Margaret Benbow, Mrs. Nell Horth, Miss Maidie Cottingham, Mrs. Ruby Masters and Miss Jean Smith, directors.

In her annual report, the retiring president, Mrs. Lily Welham, stressed what she considered the three most important steps taken by the club during the year: Substantial increase in membership; hosting of a day-long post-convention visit of 900 delegates from the United States Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, following its national convention in Seattle; and the printing of a monthly newsletter, edited by Mrs. Marguerite Laughlin.

Reports were submitted by all officers. Chairman of the nominations committee was past president Mrs. Bessie Smith assisted by Mrs. Nan Phipps and Mrs. Evelyn Edwards.

Mrs. C. P. M. Payne, right, with six-year-old son John, is shown here with three charming visitors from South Africa who are guests in her Turn Place home. Miss Ella Le Maitre, left, has recently retired as headmistress of Rodeau School in Johannesburg. The school is a "little sister" of the famous Rodeau School in England. Also here, from South Africa, is Miss Ivy Wood, seated in foreground, from Durban, Natal. She has been Mrs. Payne's guest during the winter, and will return to Natal via England, in the late summer. Travelling with Miss Le Maitre is Miss Dorothea Campbell, a journalist and free lance writer. For many years Mrs. Campbell was with a South African newspaper, The Rand Daily Mail, and recently was publicity manager for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer films in South Africa. She now devotes her time to free lance writing. Miss Le Maitre and Mrs. Campbell arrived in Victoria last week, by way of South America and the western United States, and will be leaving Victoria Thursday for Vancouver, Montreal and further travels.

English Girl to Guide Visitors Through Anne Hathaway Cottage

By MARIE MILBURN

This summer when visitors use the heavy wrought-iron knocker on the oaken door of Victoria's Olde England Inn, a girl with a soft British accent, who was born in a Cotswold village near Stratford-on-Avon, will welcome them in.

Raven-haired and doe-eyed, Jane Newman is a perfect choice for hostess in a very English inn, even though this particular one is the other side of the globe from England.

Jane trained in the granddaddy of all English inns, Stratford-on-Avon's "Falcon." One of the oldest in England, its first recorded date is its licensing, in 1604. It had been going strong for many years before that.

Today it is the main hotel for critics and tourists, who come from all over the world to see the famous Shakespearean Festival, in the bard's native town.

Jane welcomed such guests as Sir Ralph Richardson, "a most charming gentleman," she remembers. And as hostess she saw all the gala opening nights—watching actors of such fame as Paul Robeson, Vivian Leigh and Sir Laurence Olivier, in person.

Jane guided visitors around the old hotel, pointing out, here, in the dining room:

"Those beams used to divide horse stalls. In Elizabeth The First's time this was the stable."

Here she would warn guests to mind their heads—15th century inn rooms left little space for anything but a bare and huge rafters are an unexpected menace for modern heads.

She got into the festival by helping to prepare the Elizabethan costumes for the festival's centenary production, "Love's Labor Lost." Later she was chosen to model the exquisite gold-embroidered brocade gowns, with huge neck ruffles and elaborate head-dresses, for photographers.

Jane was spotted by Victorians, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Lane, when they visited Stratford last year. They arranged her emigration.

Now she is, at "home from home" in Canada. She feels at almost no difference from England as long as she stays in the inn.

"But when I walk out to the street, it hits me." There is so much space. And, of course, everyone drives on the wrong side . . . that is, the right side of the road."

Most fun for this English beauty in Victoria will come as she acts as guide through Anne Hathaway's cottage (an authentic model, outside and in, that has been built on the grounds of the inn, here).

She'll be carrying out a family tradition.

Shakespeare's wife's original cottage still stands on the banks of the river at Stratford-on-Avon. When Jane points out the real English thatch on the roof of the model cottage to Victoria visitors, she will be re-enacting a role her own mother played.

For Jane's mother was guide, years ago, for visitors to the original Anne Hathaway's cottage on the banks of England's river Avon.

Single bride attendant was Mrs. John Goglin, as matron of honor. Her gown was ballerina length rose lace over taffeta, and she carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and pink roses.

John Goglin was best man. Following the service, a small luncheon was given in the home of the bridegroom's mother, Kenneth P. Pickman, who had given the bride in marriage in the ceremony, proposed the toast.

Leaving for honeymoon in the Gulf Islands, bride donned a beige travelling suit, with matching accessories.

New Mr. and Mrs. Wilkie will live at 7247 West Saanich Road, Brentwood Bay.

Sidney Church Setting For Quiet Morning Vows

Baskets of columbine, iris and summer flowers decorated St. Paul's United Church, Sidney, Saturday morning for the quiet wedding of Rita Latveer, and John Claude Wilkie.

Bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Latveer, of Leiden, Holland, and her groom is the son of Mrs. Agnes I. Wilkie, Madrona Drive, Deep Cove, and the late Claude Osmond Wilkie.

Rev. D. H. Whitmore heard the wedding vows.

Yards of lace and tulle over taffeta formed the full-length bouffant skirt of the bride's wedding gown. In a shaded off-white, the gown was styled with a strapless bodice, covered by a tiny lace jacket. She wore matching elbow-length gloves. A sequin and pearl bandeau held her finger-tip-length veil of illusion net. Her

DEAR ABBY . . .

'Seek, and Ye Shall Find'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 28 and recently married. I worked in an office and married my boss. Now he doesn't want me to work any more. We have no children. I don't care for cards and I'm no good at sports. My housework is done in two hours. I am healthy, ambitious and bored stiff. How can I lead a more useful life?

DEAR BORED: There are institutions for the aged, retarded children, the blind and veterans. There are young mothers who never see the bottom of the ironing basket and old folks who need help in tending their homes. Church groups, youth groups and Red Cross! If you want to be happy—do something for somebody who can't do for himself.

DEAR ABBY: What happens to a 21-year-old girl who dreams of kissing her boyfriend every night, but when he asks her to kiss him, she refuses.

DEAR DIANE: NOTHING!

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who needs help. She is good looking and smart and very mixed up. (Three broken marriages at the age of 27!) She works around men and gets money from them to pay her psychiatrist. She has no morals whatsoever but there is something admirable about her. How can I convince her that she is doing wrong?

A FRIEND
DEAR FRIEND: If your friend is seeing a psychiatrist, the last thing in the world she needs is more advice. When one is trying to regain his emotional stability through professional help, good friends do not interfere.

DEAR ABBY: I wish you could put this in headlines: WHEN YOUR HUSBAND ASKS FOR A DIVORCE TELL HIM TO GO JUMP IN THE LAKE. I made the biggest mistake of my life when, after 16 years, my husband told me he wanted a divorce because he fell in love with a younger woman. All I was thinking of was my pride. I didn't want to hold a man who didn't want me. Not even for our children. We settled everything quietly in a lawyer's office and are now legally divorced. I still love him, Abby, and word has reached me that his second marriage is not working out. Yes, I still have my pride . . . but another woman has my husband.

SOLUTION FRIDAY

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Ellen Wachtel, age 10, of Cleveland, Ohio, for her question:

Does a catfish have scales?

The common catfish we find lurking in our creeks and lakes has a smooth skin and no scales at all. His everyday name is the brown bullhead. Yet even with his bull-like head, a set of whiskers to make a pussy cat envious and no scales, he is a true fish. With his assorted relatives he belongs to a huge order which includes most of the world's fresh water fish population.

The carps and their glamorous relatives the goldfish are scaly kin to the catfish. So are the minnows, the hungry little piranhas, and the strange electric eels.

Of this vast order the catfish family boasts at least 2,000 different members. Naturally, among so many cousins we find a great many differences. In fact, the family resemblance is not always easy to spot. Though none have true scales a few have heavy armor plating and resemble pine cones. These rather small fish inhabit tropical waters.

The brown bullhead has four pairs of whiskers growing from the chin and upper lip. The proper name for them is barbels and they are not pussy cat type whiskers at all. They are feelers and the catfish uses them to feel his way through the mud and debris on the floor of his pond or stream. Muddy water bothers him not at all and he can make a living in water so dirty that no other fish could survive in it.

The average catfish weighs from five to 20 pounds. But monsters of 100 pounds have been taken from our large rivers. These whoopers are pygmies compared with the giant catfish of the Danube River. There you may snag a 12-foot catfish weighing almost a quarter of a ton.

Eats Almost Anything

A catfish is not choosy about his diet. He eats whatever vegetable or meat, alive or dead, he finds in the water. He makes good use of this food for his own flesh is firm and flavorful. If catfish were not so easy to come by it might well be considered a valuable delicacy.

A word of caution about catching a catfish. Though smooth skinned, the fellow has very sharp fins. You can get nasty stabs from those on his side and back. Certain catfish have poisonous spines, but our brown bullhead has no poison glands. A wound from him might very likely become infected, though, because he comes from dirty water as a rule. So be sensible and safe, and use the iodine at once.

Andy sends a Hammond's Nature Atlas of America to Ronald Salem, age 13, of Winston-Salem, N.C., for his question:

To what plant family does the olive belong?

The family name is oleaceae and all of its members are trees or shrubs. The most important to us is the olive tree. Its fruit yields rich oils for cooking and salad dressings. Olive oil is also used in soap making and green and ripe olives are served as appetizers.

Other members of the oleaceae family are more glamorous than the evergreen olive tree. They are the lilacs, the jasmynes and the sweet smelling syringas or mock orange blossoms. The leafy privet shrubs used to make thick hedges are also oleaceae cousins, as are the dainty ash trees.

Four Die in Cave-In MEXICO CITY (AP)—Five men were buried alive Tuesday by a cave-in during construction of a city drainage canal. One was dug out and survived after application of oxygen. The other four were found dead.

LET THIS FRISKY TRIO loose and you've got a three-ring circus, says 15-year-old David Shiner, Brentwood, whose two-week-old Saanen goat triplets were a hit last weekend of South Vancouver Island Goat Breeders' Association annual "kid show" at Saanichton Fair Grounds. Frisky right from birth, the youngsters will be more than a handful for David in another two weeks. They grow by leaps and bounds. (Robin Clarke Photo.)

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—We tried to get Miss Lee Remick on our side in our great campaign against womenfolk trotting around the house barefooted.

Miss Remick, the very prim and pretty young star, had just returned from Ishpeming, Mich., bringing with her the very tight western pants she wore in the filming of "Anatomy of Murder."

"I would wear them in my apartment but not out on the streets in New York because they fit very well to begin with and when you get them too small as I did, they fit even better," Miss Remick carefully explained.

"They are my second skin, shall we say?"

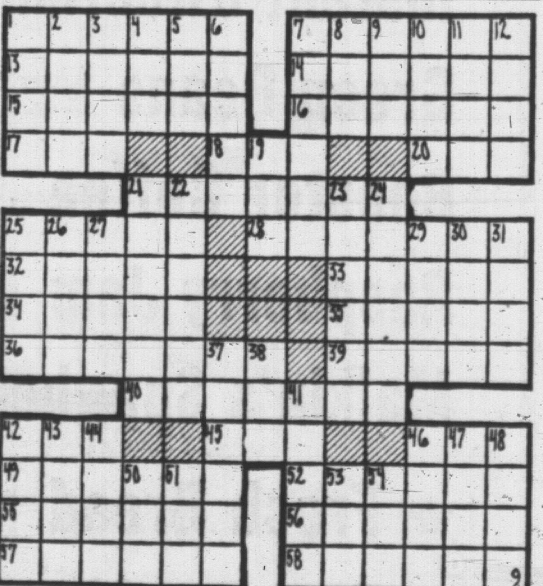

When she said this we knew she could help us persuade our barefoot wife and our gorgeous mother-in-law that they should be more modest around our little slum.

Why, once-long ago when Debbie Reynolds visited us, she even got barefooted. Barefoot Boulevard, we call it.

Lee Remick wanted to talk about Joe Welch playing gin rummy with his wife Agnes while they were working, and how Kathy Grant found out she was going to have a baby, and told Louella, and then told Bing, but we kept talking about the tight pants that Lana Turner couldn't wear not because they were too tight but because they weren't glamorous enough . . . and so Lee got the part.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL—Sol Hurok would like to book Larry Adler with Leonard Bernstein and the Philharmonic . . . Jerry Lewis bought 22 shades of raincoats: One for every color of rain . . . Jackie Gleason phoned that Walter Pidgeon and Eileen Herlihy were "so gracious" in agreeing to his being billed "over the title" of "Connecticut Summer," and so willing

Eccentric Pianist Plays Twice Here

GLENN GOULD
... with symphony

Leading Canadian pianist Glenn Gould is one of many distinguished artists who will be featured with Victoria Symphony Orchestra during the coming season.

Renowned for his eccentric antics at the keyboard, Mr. Gould will give two performances with the symphony, directors of the Symphony Society announced Tuesday night.

Dr. Nicholas Goldschmidt, director of Vancouver International Festival, is expected to make two appearances as guest conductor late in the 1959-60 season.

AT NANAIMO

The symphony hopes to give two concerts during the season at Nanaimo with a $2,500 grant from the Canada Council.

Directors are also discussing the possibility of giving students concerts on Saturdays so all who wish can attend.

Other guest artists will be Hyman Goodman, violinist; Donald Bell, bass-baritone; Ilona Kombrink, soprano; Sheila Henig and Lloyd Powell, pianists.

The Symphony Society will hold its annual meeting on Tuesday, June 23, at Spencer house.

J. C. PULLEN ... "there's no boredom around here."

HE'S A MASTER OF MODEL-MAKING

Descendant of Seafarers Carries On in 'Small Way'

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

A model of the old wooden sailing ship North Star in which Admiral William S. Pullen sailed the seven seas more than a century ago is being fashioned in Victoria by his great-grandson.

The great-grandson, J. C. Pullen, an ex-merchant seaman, RCAF veteran, electrical contractor and former wiring inspector for the city of Victoria.

A master of model-making, genial white-haired Mr. Pullen has just finished carving the hull of the ship from pine and mahogany.

Mr. Pullen wrote to the National Maritime Museum in London for plans of the ancient craft, knowing that the museum has records of every British ship ever built.

Went to Work

Back came a photostatic copy of the North Star as it first appeared on a drawing board, and Mr. Pullen went to work from that.

"My great-grandfather was engaged on marine surveys for the admiralty. He explored the Arctic and was one of the early colonists of Australia. He died at Torquay, Devonshire, England, in 1828."

At his pleasant tree-bordered home at 4149 Quadra, Mr. Pullen has a rare collection of books on marine history in which there are many references to his illustrious great-grandfather.

"It is known that he wrote a book on his adventures but so far I have been unable to trace it."

Mr. Pullen, incidentally, is a second cousin of Rear Admiral H. F. Pullen, flag officer, Atlantic Coast and former flag officer, Pacific Coast.

Seafarers

"We are a very old seafaring family," he said, "and since my retirement I have devoted much of my time to modelling ships."

Mr. Pullen's skill as a model maker also extends to sailing yachts, home-made chess sets, jewellery, lamp shades and cigarette boxes.

He is a connoisseur of old violins and is now carving his first hand-made violin from European maple and pine.

His wife, a gracious dark-eyed lady, wears earrings fashioned by her husband and a necklace of coins from all over the world.

The rambling oak-paneled living room bears abundant evidence of Mr. Pullen's skill as a handicraft worker, including a magnificent hi-fi loud-speaker built into the wall.

No TV Time

There is no TV because, frankly, the Pullens haven't time for it. When he isn't making models or playing the hi-fi or studying old naval records, Mr. Pullen draws sweet melody from a 17th century violin while his wife plays the soft-toned grand piano in the corner.

SAVED BABY WHO STOPPED BREATHING

'Nurse Deserves a Medal'

Don Cozens, 83 Crease Avenue, thinks his next-door neighbor Mrs. Eleanor Gould deserves a medal.

Mrs. Gould, a nurse, saved Mr. Cozens' infant son from death Friday night.

It happened this way ... "My wife, Norma, found the baby, Gordon — only two months old and premature — gasping in his crib," he said. "We were frantic; we didn't know what to do. But she remembered Mrs. Gould, and sent for her right away while I was phoning the fire department."

"She came over quickly and began giving the baby artificial respiration, breathing in its mouth."

"The baby, who had stopped breathing, suddenly gave a couple of cries just as the fire department came along. Then the doctor got there and took him to hospital. The doctor said it would have been too late if not for Mrs. Gould."

"I think it's wonderful for a person to think like she did. She acted so fast ... it's just beyond words for me to describe."

"I would like to see her get a medal, from the Humane Society or some other organization. She was wonderful."

Navy to Shorten Enlistment Term

OTTAWA (CP)—The navy has worked out a shorter enlistment period to stem the flow of highly-trained technical men back to civilian life after they receive their advanced training.

Naval headquarters said today that the enlistment period will be shortened to three years from five, effective July 6.

At the same time, the extensive technical courses now given during a sailor's first hitch will be given only after he signs on for a second three-year term.

DOUBLE ADVANTAGE

The navy said this method of training and enlistment will be of advantage to the men as well as the navy because they will decide within the first three years whether to make the navy a career.

Another bit of streamlining is that men will be channeled into the various trades only after they become familiar with the trades open to them and after they have undergone tests to determine their aptitudes. On enlisting now a man is enrolled immediately in a trade.

Farm implements estimated 100,000 years old have been found in the sparsely-settled Sinai peninsula of Egypt.

Masonic Rites For Meat Dealer Set Thursday

Masonic funeral services will be held Thursday for James Bethell, 1475 Fort, who died Monday night at Royal Jubilee Hospital. He was 88.

A member of the Britannia Lodge No. 73, AF&AM, he was born in England, came to Victoria in 1912, and entered the meat business.

He retired as proprietor in 1939 but continued to take an active part in the business until shortly before his death.

He is survived by the widow, Harriett Elizabeth, at home; two daughters, Mrs. Roy Crowley, of Qualicum, and Mrs. W. O. Clarke, of Abbotsford; two sons, James W. and William T. Bethell, of Victoria; a sister, Mrs. D. R. Sheret, of Victoria; eight grandchildren and nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p.m. in McCall's Funeral Chapel by Rev. W. J. Welsh, followed by interment at Royal Oak Cemetery.

Poetry Readings To Jazz Tonight

Poetry readings to modern jazz will be featured at the Victoria Jazz Society's last scheduled membership meeting of the season at 1306 Wharf Street, tonight, at 8:30.

Club director Lorne Priestly will offer selections of poetry from his own collection, with notes.

Twice Banished, Negro Chief Dies

LONDON (Reuters)—Tshekedi Khama, former regent of the Bamangwato tribe in Bechuanaland, died in hospital here early today. He was 54.

Tshekedi, regent of the Bamangwato tribe from 1924 to 1950, was twice temporarily banished as a result of incidents involving whites.

One was his opposition to the marriage of his nephews, Seretse Khama, to Miss Ruth Williams, a London typist, in 1948.

'Copter Crash Survivors Safe After 3 Days

(Compiled From CP)

VANCOUVER — Two men missing since Monday aboard a helicopter were found alive today beside their downed craft in northern British Columbia.

The RCAF here said the helicopter was spotted in a place called Dead Man's Canyon, with the men beside it. Further details, including identification of the missing men, were not available.

The RCAF sent a Dakota from its suburban Sea Island Search and Rescue Unit to join two civilian Cessnas and a helicopter in the search for the craft, which went missing on a 100-mile flight from Fort Laird, N.W.T., to Fort Nelson, B.C.

Dead Man's Canyon was understood to be between those two points.

The helicopter was owned by Okanagan Helicopters of Vancouver.

Lessons Remembered

VANCOUVER — A city woman who remembered her lifesaving lessons of more than 20 years ago, successfully administered artificial respiration to a school girl who was dragged unconscious Tuesday from a private swimming pool.

Patricia Cummings, nine, was given artificial respiration for about 15 minutes by Mrs. Larry Lathwell, a supervisor at a school swimming party.

Speedy Acquittal

QUESNEL — An all-male jury deliberated only five minutes Tuesday before acquitting Frank William Johnson, 22, of a charge of manslaughter.

Johnson was charged with the strangling death of Pether Pintans, 35, during a struggle at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Hanson last Dec. 23 in Wells, B.C.

Witnesses testified Pintans was intoxicated and became involved in a fight with Mrs. Hanson. Mr. Hanson called in Johnson, a son by Mrs. Hanson's first marriage and a neighbor to the Hansons.

Pintans was strangled to death in a struggle with Johnson. The original charge of murder against Johnson was reduced to one of manslaughter at a preliminary hearing.

Battle Continues

PENTICTON — Mayor Charles E. Oliver has continued his run-ins with city council, calling an extension to a domestic water intake a "useless waste of funds."

In a prepared statement, the mayor accused council Monday night of "ignoring the voters' wishes." When a resolution was made calling for acceptance of the lowest of four tenders for extending the intake, the mayor refused to call for a vote.

Instead, he followed his previous procedure by vacating his chair. Acting Mayor A. C. Kendrick conducted the voting and a resolution accepting a $13,200 tender for the work was passed 5-2.

Robber Gets 4 Years

VANCOUVER — Ronald McColl was sentenced Tuesday to four years in prison for armed robbery after he pleaded guilty to holding up a woman at knifepoint in her west-end home May 28.

IWA Hearings End

VANCOUVER — The extensive arguments of B.C.'s forest management and the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) before a conciliation board ended here Tuesday.

The three-man board now will review submissions and make recommendations toward settlement of a wage dispute involving 26,500 union members and 136 coast lumber firms.

Boost for Eye Bank

VANCOUVER — More than 200 persons have signed pledge cards in the last month for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind's eye bank here, Capt. M. C. Robinson, CNIB western director said Tuesday. The potential donors have agreed to allow their eyes to be removed within six hours of death so they can be used for corneal transplants.

First of the provincial research councils in Canada, that in Alberta was established in 1919.

'Knock Down Trade Barriers Against U.K.'

WINNIPEG (CP) — A British industrialist Tuesday called on Canada and the United Kingdom to abolish trade quotas and tariffs as a move toward freer trade between the two countries.

"An alternative policy of increasing protection would, I believe, damage us both," the Rt. Hon. Sir Toby Low, Conservative member of parliament, told the 80th annual meeting of the Winnipeg Chamber of Commerce.

Britain still was buying much more from Canada than she was exporting to this country, he said. Protective measures were restricting Britain from increasing her exports.

"Between 1951 and 1958 our exports to Canada rose by 37 per cent and, in the first four months of 1959 they were worth 8 per cent more than in the same four months of 1958," said Sir Toby, former minister of state, board of trade.

"The gap between exports and imports is still very large and much in Canada's favor. In 1958 your imports cost us $781,000,000 and we got by our exports to you only $527,000,000."

Sir Toby said Britain has moved from a tight system of restrictions on imports from Canada and dollar countries to an almost complete trade freedom.

"Today the door is open to Canadian commodities and goods to enter Britain just as it is open for the countries of Western Europe."

He added that Britain is doing everything possible to balance the trade between the two countries.

"I want to leave you no doubt that we are competitive in price, delivery date, design, technically and scientifically, with the United States," he said.

"Today our scientists, our technologists, our management, our factories and our plants are up to date and advanced and, in not a few cases, lead the world."

Sir Toby said that Britain expects to sell nothing in Canada which is not as good in quality and "price as that which you can get elsewhere." All Britain wants, he said, is the opportunity to be able to sell its materials to this country.

Canada need not be worried that Britain will stop buying her wheat as a result of recent trade agreements with the Soviet bloc and China, Sir Toby said.

"I want to assure your wheat growers that Britain's bread eaters like your hard wheat. Our whole bread-baking industry is based on that."

He said agreements to expand Britain's trade with Russia which lead to expansion of British exports and industrial output will "most definitely work to Canada's advantage."

TRADE MORE WITH REDS

ST. ANDREWS, N.B. (CP) — Active trade across the Pacific between Canada and Communist countries is envisaged by Cyrus Eaton, Canadian-born Cleveland industrialist here for the annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

Canada, Mr. Eaton said, cannot wait to see whether the United States adopts "sounder" policies without Canada sacrificing her tremendous potential for trade with the Far East.

"An examination of the ambitious Siberian development program in the new Soviet seven-year plan leaves no doubt of the thriving traffic that can be conducted across the Pacific between the west coast of Canada and the Russian Far East."

Commons Asked To Probe Sale Of Indian Land

OTTAWA (CP) — The Liberals today sought to bring on an emergency debate in the Commons over sale of 160 acres of Indian lands at Sarnia, Ont., to an investment firm which resold at a profit of $800,000 to Ontario Hydro.

J. W. Pickersgill, former Liberal citizenship minister, moved a motion criticizing the "failure" of Citizenship Minister Fairclough to protect the Indians, saying they received $2,000 an acre from Dimensional Investments Limited which immediately resold the land to Ontario Hydro for $7,000 an acre.

Mr. Pickersgill, MP for Bonaville-Twillingate, said that in view of the Ontario provincial election Thursday it was a matter of urgency to determine whether the price paid by Ontario Hydro was something the Indians lost or extravagance on the part of the provincial government.

After Speaker Roland Michener expressed doubts about the matter being of national importance, Mr. Pickersgill argued that the most important and urgent matter possible is the performance of a trust by ministers of the Crown. In this case, the citizenship minister, as superintendent-general of Indians, is trustee for the Indians.

Ruled Too Late To Be Corrected

Speaker Michener finally ruled the motion out of order as applying to an accomplished fact. A discussion at this time, therefore, wouldn't correct the situation.

Mr. Pickersgill said it is important to determine immediately whether the land was worth the $7,000-an-acre price—in which case the Indians and not Dimensional Investments should have received that amount—or whether it wasn't worth the money.

External Affairs Minister

Green, government House leader, said Mr. Pickersgill "let the cat out of the bag" by referring to the Ontario election. His motion obviously was only a political propaganda motion.

Mr. Green said there will be a chance to debate the matter—if the Opposition had the "courage" to revert to it—when the next supply motion is proposed by the government, probably a week from Monday.

Hazen Argue, CCF House leader, said the matter is urgent to determine whether the Indians concerned were denied money rightly theirs, or whether the Ontario Hydro commission "paid a scandalous amount" for the land.

HINT FRENCH-CANADIAN AS GOVERNOR-GENERAL

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's next governor-general will be a Canadian, and probably a French-speaking Canadian, it was learned today.

Informants said Prime Minister Diefenbaker has decided to follow the lead of the former Liberal government in having a Canadian in Government House.

Identity of Mr. Diefenbaker's choice has been kept secret.

PREMIER FROST

JOHN WINTERMEYER

Soviet Bid Vetoed

GENEVA (CP) — A Russian proposal to the Western powers for a one-year moratorium in the Berlin crisis was rejected in the foreign ministers' conference today.

State Secretary Herter told Foreign Minister Gromyko that the United States "will never negotiate under deadlines, threats or duress."

In a dramatic session—amid talk of a breakdown of negotiations—Herter appealed to Gromyko to reconsider the proposal he made Tuesday.

Gromyko offered to hold up for a year Russia's threat to squeeze the Allies out of West Berlin, provided they started work on Soviet-dictated terms for a German settlement.

An American spokesman called the 12-month time limit equivalent to an ultimatum, and speculated that Russia made the proposal "in order to bring about a breakdown of the conference."

Assistant State Secretary Andrew H. Berding, making public the Soviet proposal which was advanced at a secret session Tuesday, reported the Western reaction today at a press conference.

Berding said that "obviously there is no point in going on with the conference on the basis of these proposals."

Gromyko, after his move at the secret session at Herter's residence Tuesday, got agreement to a formal Big Four session today. He served notice he would present the proposal there—meaning he would make it public.

SOUGHT DETAILS

Herter and the other foreign ministers, Britain's Selwyn Lloyd and France's Maurice Couve de Murville, asked for a written statement of the plan. Gromyko refused to provide it.

Berding said the proposal "reintroduces a time limit, one year, into the Berlin situation and also reintroduces the element of threat."

Berding said the proposal as presented by Gromyko more-over covered these general lines: "The Soviet Union would accept the temporary maintenance of certain Western occupation rights in West Berlin for a one-year period."

"During this period an all-German committee of the Communist German Democratic Republic and the West German Federal Republic on a parity basis should work out the principles of a peace treaty and facilitate the development and broadening of contacts between the GDR and GFR."

At dissolution last month the Conservatives held 83 seats, the Liberals 11 and the CCF three. One was vacant due to the death of Thomas Kennedy, veteran Conservative member for Peel.

Only the Conservatives and the Liberals are contesting all 98 seats in Thursday's voting. The CCF has candidates in 81. Nine Communist Labor Progressives, five Social Credit, three Independents and two Independents-Conservatives also are in the running.

GOODWILL MISSION BACKFIRES

Fast River Run Knocks Out Dike

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A goodwill visit of six Canadian warships backfired today when fishermen and farmers near here threatened to file lawsuits for damage caused along the Columbia River bank by waves

Army engineers said the waves tore out all but 300 feet of a 2,600-foot-long revetment on Sauvie Island, north of Portland.

The Canadians expressed regret but denied any blame. The ships are the Second Canadian Escort Squadron. They are the Assiniboine, the flagship St. Laurent, Saguenay, Skeena, Fraser and Margaree.

24-HOUR PATROL

Col. Walter L. Winegar, Portland district engineer, imposed speed limits for a four-mile stretch of the Columbia, and also ordered a 24-hour patrol for the damaged levee.

Bank fishermen said the four Canadian destroyer escorts speeded by Tuesday, setting up 12-foot high waves that washed completely over two persons.

Mr. and Mrs. Orlo Poyfair of Portland said they saved their lives only by clinging to brush. Other fishermen said they lost their gear when the waves hit. They said they were considering suing for the loss.

Elmer Peterson, secretary-treasurer of the drainage district, said the farmers could not raise the money to repair the dike, and added, "the only course we have is a lawsuit."

REGRET EXPRESSED

Capt. J. C. Pratt, who commanded the Canadian ships which came up the Columbia in groups of four and two vessels, expressed regret for any damage.

He said, however, a Columbia River pilot was aboard every ship and "we stuck to the speeds they dictated to us."

The vessel went on to Portland, where they are visiting for the Portland Rose Festival. Vice-president J. W. Powell of the Columbia River Pilots Association said it was too early to fix blame and added that the pilots "were very competent and realized the dangers up and down the river."

TREES WASHED OUT

Trees were washed out and in some places the waves took 20- to 25-foot-deep bits from the dike.

The Columbia River now is rising in its annual freshet, but engineers said there is no immediate threat to the dike. The river now is at 19 feet, three feet over nominal flood level. Dikes protect the island against higher levels than that.

Ships are not restricted in speed in that area ordinarily until the river reaches a height of 25 feet.

Col. Winegar directed that ships be limited to a speed of five knots upstream and eight knots downstream.

Mrs. George Johnson, a resident of the area, said "we've lived here for 45 years and this has never happened before."

Rape Trial Opens

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Four white youths went on trial for their lives today in the rape of a teenage Negro college co-ed.

Court Fines By Instalment To Be Allowed

OTTAWA (CP) — The government gave the Commons notice today of proposed Criminal Code amendments and informants said they will include a provision that all fines may be paid in instalments at the discretion of the courts.

Informants said the code changes will also give airline pilots power to arrest law offenders while their aircraft are in flight and provide for the prosecution of such persons in Canadian courts.

Another amendment will provide for suspension of the licence of a driver for leaving the scene of an accident.

A legal definition of obscenity will be written into the Criminal Code as well, if the government's proposals are accepted by Parliament.

Existing code provisions give magistrates discretion in assessing fines of persons convicted of minor offences—that is, in assessing fines for summary conviction.

For more serious indictable offences there is no present provision for delayed payment of fines.

In all cases, jail terms must be served if the convicted person is unable to pay a fine.

Informants said magistrates have been letting people pay fines by instalment, or have been giving them set periods of time to raise the money, without sending them to jail. But the practice varies from magistrate to magistrate.

CAN MAKE REQUEST

The code amendments, sponsored by Justice Minister Pilon, will provide for instalment payment of fines for both summary and indictable offences, informants said.

A convicted offender will be given the right to request a minimum of time—perhaps two or three weeks—in which to raise the money. He will be required only to show to the court's satisfaction that he needs this time.

The legal definition of obscenity will make it an offence to publish or distribute any crime in books, pictures and recordings and in various other ways.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

O God, help us to understand that power lies not in bombs but in Thee. Groom our hearts to receive that life which death cannot destroy. Lift our eyes to behold the kingdom that remains unmoved when all else is in rubble. Place Thy hand in ours and lead us, through all life's fears and failures, into the peace of Thy forgiveness and love; through Christ, our Lord, Amen.

IN ALL HIS GLORY

Magnificent in all his scarlet and maroon glory, Drum-Major W. E. Wyman will lead the 1st Battalion, PPCLI Corps of Drums, to their last sunset ceremony of the season at the Legislative Buildings at 8:30 tonight. Adenauer, Erhard Settle Dispute

(Times News Services)

BONN — Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer settled their quarrel over the West German chancellorship tonight, Christian Democratic party sources said. The sources said Erhard has agreed to remain in office as economics minister.

Erhard had sought a vote of confidence from the party group to put him in line for the chancellorship in succession to Adenauer.

The Adenauer-Erhard dispute and the rift in party ranks centered on Adenauer's decision—announced while Erhard was visiting the United States last week—to hold on to the chancellorship instead of giving it up as planned.

The report of the settlement came after the two principals had talked together for two hours.

Adenauer joined his party in making a full apology to Erhard.

Erhard returned from the U.S. Tuesday with a pledge that he would "fight" to clear up what he called an "historic lie" about him.

Erhard's statements that he had ever laid "claim" to the chancellorship of West Germany, that he was less steadfast than others in foreign policy, and that he was an opponent of European integration.

Bing to Head Parade

CALGARY (CP) — Officials of the Calgary Stampede announced Tuesday night crooner-movie star Bing Crosby will lead the stampede parade when it moves through the city July 8.

Seems Mister Gromyko wants one year more on his one-year moratorium. Ottawa's all for trade with Britain—long it's all export. M' Uncle Zeke's all for payin' fines by instalments. Sez it's better'n bein' installed.

WIRE BRIEFS

THIS WORLD OF OURS People and Things

(From Times News Services)

PARIS—A Paris civil court Tuesday ordered best-selling novelist Françoise Sagan to pay a Paris surgeon 900,000 francs (about $1,800) for treatment he gave her when she lay in a 36-hour coma after her sports car overturned in April, 1957.

FRANCOISE SAGAN

Miss Sagan had contested a bill of 1,000,000 francs (about $2,000) submitted by the doctor, complaining that it was too high.

Miss Sagan, 23, also was ordered to pay costs of the trial for the surgeon, Dr. Georges Juvenelle, and interest on the bill for the period since February, 1958.

LISBON—Princess Margaret spent an hour Tuesday with pretender to the Spanish throne, Don Juan, her third cousin.

The Princess called on Don Juan and his family at their home in Estril, to tea. Don Juan told reporters he thought the Princess "as beautiful as usual."

HONOLULU—Tired, he boarded the plane and dozed off. Waking, he looked out of window and saw the blue Pacific.

Richard Fuerst had intended to go to Chicago. But he arrived here. After a two-hour hula holiday, he caught a plane for the mainland.

CALABOGIE, Ont. (CP)—It's a big week for Spencer Church. He has a birthday to celebrate today and a vote to cast in the Ontario election Thursday.

Both occasions are old hat to Mr. Church. He will be 109 on his birthday. And he has rarely missed casting his ballot since he reached voting age four years after Confederation.

Strachan Speaks On Debt Tonight

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan says he will outline "the premier's misrepresentation of the B.C. public debt" in an address tonight to a CCF-sponsored public meeting at Club Tango in Oak Bay. The meeting starts at 8 p.m.

SALE DRAWS ART LOVERS

Emily Carr Study Auctions at $325

A small landscape by Victoria artist Emily Carr was sold for $325 at an art sale in Lund's auction rooms, 926 Fort, Tuesday night.

But another painting attributed to Emily Carr—a nude in water colors—fetched only $25. A portrait attributed to Sir Henry Raeburn, 18th century Scottish painter, sold for $12.

A small oil painting by Canadian artist F. S. Coburn fetched the top price of $390. Oils by A. Y. Jackson and Arthur Lismer of the Canadian Group of Seven were sold for $165 and $160 respectively.

Buyers came from Seattle, as well as Courtenay, Nanaimo and other up-island centres. The sale of 200 paintings continues tonight in Lund's auction rooms tonight at 7.30.

Racket. Busting Group Proposed

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Liberal party is studying plans for organization of a "vigilante" group to fight spiralling living costs, exorbitant lending interest rates and rackets.

Ray Perrault, the provincial party leader, said Tuesday he expects to make specific proposals to the government this month.

"The kind of group we have in mind would not be affiliated to the government," he said, "but would be recognized by the government as having investigatory powers."

"I have had discussions with several groups who are interested in breaking existing rackets in B.C., and I've come to the conclusion that some body is necessary."

Mr. Perrault said the attorney-general had taken a good first step in stiffening real estate regulations "so far as it goes."

ROUND-CLOCK FIGHT TO SAVE CONSTABLE

WINDSOR (CP)—Doctors today continued their round-the-clock battle to save the life of a young Windsor policeman critically wounded in a struggle with a bank bandit here Tuesday.

Constable Bryan Pickup, 28, the father of three children, is on the critical list in hospital with a bullet wound in the stomach.

Const. Pickup was the first officer on the scene at an east-end Bank of Montreal branch during a daylight holdup by two masked bandits.

Pickup grabbed one of the bandits and grappled him to the ground, but in the scuffle the bandit's gun went off.

Two of the bandits, including one man from Vancouver, are in custody. Police are checking the possibility a third man was waiting in a car. Police recovered the loot, $10,733, intact.

Improvement Farm Loans Limit Upped

OTTAWA (CP)—The ceiling on individual farm loans which may be granted under the government's farm improvement loans act is to be boosted to $7,500 from $5,000, it was learned today. The rate of interest is to remain unchanged at 5 per cent.

Informants disclosed this as Finance Minister Fleming gave Parliament customary notice of a resolution to extend the legislation for another three years. The act is due to expire June 30.

They said also that the definition of a farmer under the act would be expanded to allow full-time beekeepers to obtain farm improvement loans.

The loans are made by the chartered banks under a federal repayment guarantee.

Loans are made for any purpose the condition of farms. Demands for such credit have been increasing.

Reds Yield On A-Blast Detection

GENEVA (Reuters)—The three nuclear powers today moved closer to agreement on a proposed meeting of their experts to study the detection of high-altitude explosions.

A conference said Russia agreed at the half-hour session that the technical studies should be broadened to include techniques of detection.

The United States and Britain, for their part, agreed the experts also should study instrumentation methods.

Previously, Russia had insisted on a study of instrumentation only, claiming the study of techniques was not necessary.

Court Raps Hoffa

Selling Armistice Proposed

By HAL MALONE
Times Business Editor

Victoria life insurance salesmen who have been tussling—sometimes unsuccessfully—with mutual funds salesmen for clients' favor and dollars were offered a double-barrelled solution today—attack when provoked or practice co-existence. The solution came from PROBE, a life insurance publication printed in New York. Intended primarily for U.S. life underwriters, PROBE nonetheless sent its advice across the border for Canadian consumption.

Chances are it will be readily digested here. For some time Victoria CLUs have been gnawing their bicusps over mutual funds salesmen who have been "persuading" life insurance policyholders to convert to mutual funds.

The funds fellows prime ammunition is that the ultimate value of a life insurance policy at maturity would represent the buying power of the day. Succinctly they tell a potential client: "Let's say at age 60 you will get $5,000 from your matured life insurance policy. By that time a dollar won't be worth 25 cents in buying power. If you purchase mutual funds today there is no telling how much they will appreciate in 20 years time. You could end up with five times as much money with mutual funds than with a life insurance policy. If you will just sign here..."

What they don't say is that mutual funds, as any other investment, work on the elevator principle. They can go up or down. Only because they can be forgetful do the mutual funds salesman neglect to remind policyholders that they are assured of a guaranteed maturity value.

"HANDS OFF" POLICY

In Victoria, life insurance underwriters are not wholly in favor of annihilating mutual funds salesmen. The main objection of CLUs is to the methods used by MF boys. Leaning heavily on ethics, as they should, CLUs have a "hands-off" policy toward other CLUs clients. They rarely embrace another CLU client unless that client says he has had enough and wants to place his business elsewhere. Even then the company which wrote the original policy is advised.

Mutual funds salesmen, on the other hand, look upon any one with money and no place to spend it as potential bait. Worse still, in the eyes of the CLUs, the mutual funds people not only push their product but also push the idea that the policyholder should cash in his life insurance so that he can cash in on mutual funds which are going up.

SIMPLE SOLUTION

PROBE's suggested solution is simple. Tell the potential client to sell his mutual funds—at a profit—and buy insurance with a modest but guaranteed return. That way, says PROBE, the client can have his cake and eat it too.

The publication's second is to "join them if you can't whip them." This calls for CLUs and life underwriters

Industrial Record Best Win in Months

Industrials surged to their best index advance in almost five months as the Toronto stock market broke a four-day losing streak and moved up today in light mid-afternoon trading.

Among industrials best went to steels, papers, motors and liquors. Ford A. Dominion Stores and Walker Gooderham each added one point. Calgary Power and Dominion Bank dipped one point.

The New York market held most of its gains after staging the most vigorous rally in weeks.

AT TORONTO in base metals International Nickel gained 1 1/2 at 91. Consolidated Mining was off 1/2 at 20 1/2, trading ex-dividend.

Calgary and Edmonton added 3/4 at 28 1/2 to lead western oils. Home B was up 1/2 at 15 1/2 and Canadian Husky added 1/2 at 10 1/2.

AT NEW YORK International Nickel was up 2 1/2, McIntyre Porcupine 1/2 and Hudson Bay Mining 1/2. Distillers Seagrams dropped 1/2.

Canadian Marconi was up 1/2 on the American stock exchange. Fargo Oil dropped 1/2 and Scurry Rainbow Oil lost 1/2.

AT MONTREAL—Prices were mixed to stronger with a generally fractional range in modest trading today on the stock exchange.

AT LONDON—Stock prices showed widespread gains today. Industrial shares responded sharply to selective demand and gilt-edged securities were firm.

After opening lower, U.S. issues returned to favor and several good gains were recorded.

Oils were quiet and firm and South African golds were generally quiet.

AT VANCOUVER—Trading was dull with prices firmer during the forenoon. Peace River Pete moved 4,500 at 69. Mid-West Copper traded 7,000 at 21. Silver Standard sold 2,700 at 34. Vantor moved 1,000 at 81.

BCE To Build Second B.C. Gas Pipeline

-VANCOUVER (CP)—A second natural gas pipeline will be built through the Fraser Valley by B.C. Electric next year at a cost of $7,500,000.

E. H. Rohrer, general manager of the BCE's gas division, said the new line will triple the company's capacity to deliver natural gas in the lower mainland.

SAANICH SOCIAL WELFARE administrator Frank Heaton said today he will accept at Saanich Municipal Hall cash, food and clothing gifts for the Bradasch family. Boy Improving, Father Gets Job

The hard-hit Bradasch family of Saanich were able to smile a little today.

First, Wolfgang Bradasch, the 10-year-old boy who received burns to 80 per cent of his body Sunday, was reported in "improved" condition in St. Joseph's Hospital "after a good night."

Secondly, the 40-year-old father, Willi Bradasch, Tuesday given a suspended sentence for welfare fund offences, started at Yarrow's shipyard today as a $98-a-week welder.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Bradasch and the six other children in the family—one only 10 days old—have received money, food and clothing from many well-wishers.

Saanich social welfare administrator Frank Heaton asks would-be contributors to leave gifts at his office in Saanich Municipal Hall.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Ignat Kadar, 770 Hill, was fined $10 and $5 costs when he pleaded guilty in city police court today to a charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

The accused drove a car in collision with a motorcyclist, knocking the rider off, in Beacon Hill Park.

Kadar said the victim was one of three motorcyclists who blocked his path and refused to move when Kadar asked for room to drive by, he told the court.

The rider was not hurt and his bike was damaged slightly.

A $40,000 expansion which will double the floor space of Island Tug and Barge Ltd., 345 Harbour, is being undertaken by E. J. Hunter and Sons, Architect, is R. W. Siddall. The improved premises will link dispatching and operations of the firm. The Island Tug premises are noted for an outdoor marine museum, located opposite the Princess Mary restaurant.

Taggers are needed for a Multiple Sclerosis Auxiliary tag day on Saturday, which will raise funds to further research into the disease.

Those interested can register by phoning Mrs. Thelma Mee at EV 4-1566, or may call at tag day headquarters at the Canada Trust Building, Broad and View, on Saturday between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Motorist Della Emma Robertson, 1117 Yates, was discharged from hospital after treatment for head cuts received when the car she drove was in collision with a car driven by Sarah Jane MacKenzie, 3068 Cedar Hill, at Kings and Blackwood Tuesday at 4:40 p.m.

Marjorie T. Layton, Royal Oak, was fined $10 in city police court today when she pleaded guilty to a charge of displaying a car for sale on a public street, contrary to a city bylaw.

Clarence W. Kyer, of Victoria, was fined $40 and ordered to pay $93.33 damages when he appeared in city police court today charged with wilful damage.

Police said Kyer smashed two windows at a house at 546 Alpha.

BELOVED CHIEF OF NIMPKISH TRIBE DIES AT 89

Coast Indians Alert Bay-Bound for 'Sah-tlah'

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Indians from all parts of B.C.'s west coast are leaving today for Alert Bay to attend a 'sah-tlah' or funeral service for one of their most beloved chiefs.

Dan Crammer, chief of the Nimpkish tribe, an authority on Indian traditions and customs, died early this morning at the age of 89 years.

Full native funeral rites will be performed Thursday for the chief who was widely known for his works of charity among his people.

Chief Crammer was well known by the Canadian and American scientific fraternity dealing with anthropology and archaeology.

He counted among his friends the late Franz Boas, one of the world's most eminent anthropologists, who wrote numerous reports and scientific papers on the Indians of the Northwest coast.

He was the scientist's chief source of information and acted as his interpreter during a tour of British Columbia in the early 90s. He was a friend of Marius Barbeau, well-known retired federal anthropologist.

The chief was well known in Victoria. He attended the potlatch for the dedication of the Royal Totem pole presented to Queen Elizabeth last year.

At his funeral, Indians will follow the ancient native custom of reliving the chief's life by singing his "songs." The songs give a complete report of the chief's work and achievements during his life.

A year from now, a potlatch marking the end of the mourning period will be held at Alert Bay.

The chief's personal belongings then will be distributed to members of his family.

The chief, a believer in reincarnation, is survived by the widow and seven sons and daughters.

Growing Rift Rocking Joint Group

'It's Getting Out
Of Hand'—Wurtele

By JOHN MIKA

Checkered career of the Greater Victoria inter-municipal committee appears headed for another crisis again.

Despite denials today by some members, a growing rift seemed to be shaping up among the mayor and Reeves over the purpose of the committee.

Reeve A. C. Wurtele has charged that the committee "is getting out of hand" in its methods of dealing with the juvenile detention home problem.

He severely criticized the committee's decision to "authorize" the detention home group to hire a replacement for the superintendent.

Reeve Wurtele also opposes a suggestion by Oak Bay Reeve George Murdoch to scrap the home committee and establish intermunicipal committee as the board of management for the Coldharbour Road home.

ADVISORY ONLY

Reeve Wurtele maintains that the intermunicipal committee is only an advisory body, without any power to authorize other groups to take action.

"The duty of the members is to discuss common problems and report to their respective councils for action," he said. "No administrative control should be assumed by the committee as it is presently constituted," he said.

Acting Mayor Arthur Dowell and Saanich Reeve George Chatterton both said that the committee is not cracking up.

TAKE OVER

But they both stood behind Reeve Murdoch's suggestion that intermunicipal committee should take over command of the home situation.

"After all, intermunicipal committee is composed of delegates from all four municipalities and it is all four municipalities that own and operate the home," said Ald. Dowell. "I don't see any objection to it."

He agreed with Reeve Wurtele that intermunicipal committee was intended only to make recommendations to the councils but he said the decision to authorize hiring of a new superintendent was necessary "in the emergency situation" created by sudden withdrawal of Col. William Dingley.

USEFUL

He added he did not think the differences would cause a split because intermunicipal committee "absolutely is useful to us all."

"I don't think the committee is getting out of hand," said Reeve Chatterton. "Technically, Reeve Wurtele is quite right in saying the committee exceeded its powers but it was a matter of great urgency."

"The action may not have been legal, until ratified by the councils, but it was entirely defensible."

SALUTE FIRED FOR PHILIP

A 21-gun royal salute commemorating the birthday of Prince Philip the Prince Consort was fired at Work Point Barracks at noon today by the 5th B.C. Independent Medium Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery.

MANY FEATURES OF THIS CAR will enable Canadians to obtain a better view of the Queen when she tours Canada with Prince Philip. Workmen demonstrate the removable plexiglass rear window, one of the modifications that will make for greater visibility both from within and without. The Cadillac will be transported by air to keep up with the Royal Couple as they fly from city to city, and will be used across Canada.

$85 IN FINES FOR SHOOTING FROM HIS CAR

Roy Arnold Starck, 826 Craigflower, was fined a total of $85 in Saanich police court Tuesday for shooting game from a car.

He pleaded guilty to charges of firing a .22 rifle in Saanich and fined $50, to shooting game birds out of season and fined $25 and to having a loaded firearm in a car which brought a $10 fine.

Police said Starck shot at a pheasant in a field off Granville at 7:05 p.m. May 17, and was about to close the rifle breech on another cartridge when stopped by an officer.

The court ordered Starck's rifle seized.

Is There Blue Behind Clouds?

Showers were predicted today by the weatherman for tonight and Thursday morning, with partial clearing Thursday afternoon.

A storm causing all the rain and clouds will go by tonight with winds from the east at 20 miles per hour, and will be followed Thursday by westerly winds up to 20 miles.

500 Gasmen Coming Here For Meeting

More than 500 delegates from many parts of Canada and the United States are coming here for the annual meeting of the Canadian Gas Association to be held at the Empress Hotel June 22-24.

They will be welcomed by B.C. Public Works Minister W. N. Chant.

Speakers will include R. R. Blackburn, Pacific Coast Gas Association; Dr. John Davis and Dr. H. L. Purdy of B.C. Electric; F. J. Pfluke, Rochester Gas and Electric Corporation; T. L. Robey and J. T. Wolfe of the American Gas Association.

Top executives from Vancouver Island Gas Co. Ltd., Westcoast Transmission Co. Ltd., Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd., the Union Gas Co. of Canada Ltd. and many other leading companies will attend the meeting.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today:

Peter John Campbell, 460 Kingston, $35; Gary C. Parker, 593 Baker, $40; James Leslie Robbins, 126 Regina, $40 for careless driving.

Wilfred Derksen, 2531 Government and Joseph Roy Areschenko, 1601 Esquimalt, $25 each for driving without a licence.

William Whaley, 350 Gorge East, $20 for changing lanes without proper signal.

Charles Cornelius Mandryk, Parksville, $35 for speeding over 30.

In Saanich police court Tuesday:

Janos Febrik, 1250 Pandora, $35 and licence suspension for failing to heed a siren.

SHAWNIGAN TO GET B.C. PARK

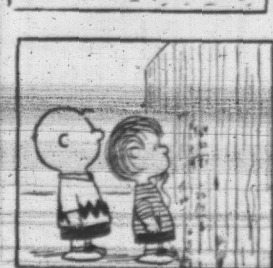

The first provincial park on the Shawnigan Lake Road to Port Renfrew is in planning stages.

A Cabinet order-in-council, approved today, outlined a swap of property held by the province at Sooke for 80 acres on the Koksilah River near Shawnigan Lake on the Port Renfrew Road. The swap was with an unnamed timber interest.

Department officials said there is no early development planned, but eventually the area will become a picnic site administered by the department of recreation and conservation.

Alderman Hurt In Horse Mishap

Victoria's "cowboy" alderman, Geoffrey Edgelow, will be straddling his city council seat at a regular meeting Thursday after being confined to his home all week following a riding accident Sunday. Ald. Edgelow suffered back and leg injuries when his horse rolled on him during an outing.

Sewer Bylaw Looms As Liveliest Issue

Saanich faces the most keenly-contested by-election in years on June 20.

When nominations closed at noon today, seven candidates had filed papers for a single vacant council seat.

The by-election is to fill a seat left vacant by Charles Nelles, who resigned for personal and business reasons last month.

Perhaps one of the liveliest issues will be the proposed $1,066,000 sewer bylaw to service the Shelbourne, Gordon Head, Cadboro Bay area.

Voters will cast ballots on the sewer bylaw on the same day as the by-election.

Another issue will be council's planning policy to curb "sprawl" development in the municipality aimed at lowering the cost of services.

CANDIDATES

Candidates seeking elections are as follows:

Joseph Casey, former reeve, who is opposed to council's policy of initiating road programs under the local improvement plan.

He is also against some subdivision restrictions enacted mainly to preserve the municipality's borrowing powers.

Robert Fleming, 2490 Sinclair, mill foreman, a former councillor who favors orderly planning.

Mr. Fleming a few years ago served on the council under Reeve Casey. He resigned his seat at the time on the grounds that the reeve's administration was inefficient.

Kenneth S. Price, 1546 Stockton Crescent, contractor, a newcomer in municipal politics, who believes there is need on council for a wider representation from the construction industry.

George Kelman, 4343 Majestic, sales manager, also a newcomer.

Gregory C. Cook, 1091 Laburnum, teacher, who sought election on the council last December.

Victor Howard Clement, 1151 Arrow, estimator who supports the council's town planning policy.

Albert W. Reid, a retired publisher.

A total of 21,865 residents will be allowed to vote in the by-election, but only ratepayers in the districts concerned will vote on the sewer bylaw.

ASK The TIMES

Q. In the main entrance to Royal Jubilee Hospital there used to be a blackboard containing names of donors of $500 or more to hospital construction when it was built. A resolution was made "that members of the direct family who donated as above would be allowed free hospitalization." Is the above true and would the resolution still apply? S.S.

A. The administration of the hospital has "no knowledge of the 'blackboard' of donors. The hospital was built in 1933, so even if the statement concerning "free hospitalization" was correct, chances of any direct descendant—a son or daughter of a donor—being alive is remote.

Helicopter Crash Survivors Named

(See story Page 31)

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two men who disappeared Monday aboard a helicopter were found safe and uninjured today in the wilds of northern British Columbia.

The pair, on a 100-mile geological survey flight for the Shell Oil Company between Fort Laird and Fort Nelson, were identified as Michael J. S. Horn, 34, of Vancouver, and Henry Gordon Bassett of Calgary, a geologist for Shell.

Hailstorm Ravages B.C. Fruit Crop

OLIVER, B.C. (CP)—A hailstorm has caused severe damage to fruit crops in the Oliver area.

Reports to the head office of B.C. Fruit Growers Mutual Hail Insurance Company in Kelowna indicated hailstones up to three-eighths of an inch in diameter were driven into fruit late Tuesday by a heavy wind for about 15 minutes.

$800,000 PROFIT

Commons Asked
To Probe Sale
Of Indian Land

OTTAWA (CP)—The Liberals today sought to bring on an emergency debate in the Commons over sale of 160 acres of Indian lands at Sarnia, Ont., to an investment firm which resold at a profit of $800,000 to Ontario Hydro.

J. W. Pickersgill, former Liberal citizenship minister, moved a motion criticizing the "failure" of Citizenship Minister Fairclough to protect the Indians, saying they received $2,000 an acre from Dimensional Investments Limited which immediately resold the land to Ontario Hydro for $7,000 an acre.

Mr. Pickersgill, MP for Bonaville-Twillingate, said that in view of the Ontario provincial election Thursday it was a matter of urgency to determine whether the price paid by Ontario Hydro was something the Indians lost or extravagance on the part of the provincial government.

After Speaker Roland Michener expressed doubts about the matter being of national importance, Mr. Pickersgill argued that the most important and urgent matter possible is the performance of a trust by ministers of the Crown. In this case, the citizenship minister, as superintendent-general of Indians, is trustee for the Indians.

Speaker Michener finally ruled the motion out of order as applying to an accomplished fact. A discussion at this time, therefore, wouldn't correct the situation.

Mr. Pickersgill said it is important to determine immediately whether the land was worth the $7,000-an-acre price—in which case the Indians and not Dimensional Investments should have received that amount—or whether it wasn't worth the money.

VOTING THURSDAY

Long Tory Reign
At Stake in Ont.

TORONTO (CP)—It's election day Thursday for Ontario, a Conservative domain for 41 of the last 54 years.

Five weeks of campaigning by 296 candidates grind to a halt tonight, leaving the decision up to a record 3,212,454 voters.

Polls open at 9 a.m. and close at 8 p.m. EDT (5 p.m. PDT) in 96 of the 98 ridings. Times are an hour later in the northwestern constituencies of Kenora and Rainy River, located in the Central time zone.

Premier Leslie Frost, who took office in 1949, is bidding to extend 16 consecutive years of Conservative administration—already a record for his party in the province. His platform is continued progress for Canada's richest region.

OPPOSITION VIEW

The opposing leaders, John Wintermeyer of the Liberals and Donald C. MacDonald of the CCF, have appealed to voters to throw out a government which they charge has become smug and arrogant. Conservatives have dominated political life in Ontario since their first election triumph in 1905. Their reign was interrupted from 1919 to 1923 when the United Farmers of Ontario held office and by a nine-year Liberal administration between 1934 and 1943.

The Liberals seek to repeat the 1934 election sweep of Mitchell Hepburn. The CCF have never formed an Ontario government, although it was the opposition party from 1943 to 1945 and again between 1948 and 1951.

Two issues which sparked personal feuding during the campaign revolved on, last year's natural gas stock controversy and the purchase of former Indian lands near Sarnia by Ontario Hydro. Political profiteering was charged. In the 1955 election the Conservatives emerged with 83 seats, the Liberals with 11 and the CCF three. An Independent Conservative, James Dempsey, was elected in Renfrew South but later died and the seat was won by Progressive Conservative James Maloney in a 1956 byelection.

At dissolution last month the Conservatives held 83 seats, the Liberals 11 and the CCF three. One was vacant due to the death of Thomas Kennedy, veteran Conservative member for Peel.

GENEVA (CP)—A Russian proposal to the Western powers for a one-year moratorium in the Berlin crisis was rejected in the foreign ministers' conference today.

State Secretary Hertzer told Foreign Minister Gromyko that the United States "will never negotiate under deadlines, threats or duress."

In a dramatic session—amid talk of a breakdown of negotiations—Hertzer appealed to Gromyko to reconsider the proposal he made Tuesday.

Gromyko offered to hold up for a year Russia's threat to squeeze the Allies out of West Berlin, provided they started work on Soviet-dictated terms for a German settlement.

An American spokesman called the 12-month time limit equivalent to an ultimatum, and speculated that Russia made the proposal "in order to bring about a breakdown of the conference."

Assistant State Secretary Andrew H. Berding, making public the Soviet proposal which was advanced at a secret session Tuesday, reported the Western reaction today at a press conference.

Berding said that "obviously Continued on Page 10—

Adenauer, Erhard
Settle Dispute

(Times News Services)

BONN—Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer settled their quarrel over the West

German chancellorship tonight, Christian Democratic party sources said. The sources said Erhard has agreed to remain in office as economics minister.

Erhard had sought a vote of confidence from the party group to put him in line for the chancellorship in succession to Adenauer.

The Adenauer-Erhard dispute and the rift in party ranks centered on Adenauer's decision, announced while Erhard was visiting the United States last week to hold on to the chancellorship instead of giving it up as planned. The report of the settlement Continued on Page 10

Lawsuits Threat
After River Run

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A goodwill visit of six Canadian warships backfired today when fishermen and farmers near here threatened to file lawsuits for damage caused along the Columbia River bank by waves from the ships.

Army engineers said the waves tore out all but 300 feet of a 2,600-foot-long revetment on Sauvie Island, north of Portland.

The Canadians expressed regret but denied any blame. Naval headquarters in Victoria said Capt. Pratt had been asked to file a report.

"We can't make any comment until we have had the report," a spokesman said.

The ships are the Second Canadian Escort Squadron. They are the Assiniboine—the flagship—St. Laurent, Saguenay, Skeena, Fraser and Margaree.

24-HOUR PATROL

Col. Walter L. Winegar, Portland district engineer, imposed speed limits for a four-mile stretch of the Columbia, and also ordered a 24-hour patrol for the damaged levee.

Bank fishermen said four Canadian destroyer escorts speeded by Tuesday, setting up 12-foot high waves that washed completely over two persons.

Mr. and Mrs. Orlo Poyfair of Portland said they saved their lives only by clinging to brush. Other fishermen said they lost their gear when the waves hit. They said they were considering suing for the loss.

Elmer Peterson, secretary-treasurer of the drainage district, said the farmers could not raise the money to repair the dike, and added: "The only course we have is a lawsuit."

REGRET EXPRESSED

Capt. J. C. Pratt, who commanded the Canadian ships which came up the Columbia in groups of four and two vessels, expressed regret for any damage.

He said, however, a Columbia River pilot was aboard every ship, and "we stuck to the speeds they dictated to us."

The vessels went on to Portland, where they are visiting for the Portland Rose Festival. Vice-president J. W. Powell of the Columbia River Pilots Association said it was too

Court Fines
By Instalment
To Be Allowed

OTTAWA (CP)—The government gave the Commons notice today of proposed Criminal Code amendments and informants said they will include a provision that all fines may be paid in instalments at the discretion of the courts.

Informants said the code changes will also give airline pilots power to arrest law offenders while their aircraft are in flight and provide for the prosecution of such persons in Canadian courts.

Another amendment will provide for suspension of the licence of a driver for leaving the scene of an accident.

A legal definition of obscenity will be written into the Criminal Code as well, if the government's proposals are accepted by Parliament.

Existing code provisions give magistrates discretion in assessing fines of persons convicted of minor offences—that is, in assessing fines for summary conviction.

For more serious indictable offences there is no present provision for delayed payment of fines.

In all cases, jail terms must be served if the convicted person is unable to pay a fine.

Informants said magistrates have been letting people pay fines by instalment, or have been giving them set periods of time to raise the money, without sending them to jail. But the practice varies from magistrate to magistrate.

The code amendments, sponsored by Justice Minister Fulton, will provide for instalment payment of fines for both summary and indictable offences, informants said.

A convicted offender will be given the right to request a minimum of time—perhaps two or three weeks—in which to raise the money. He will be required only to show to the court's satisfaction that he needs this time.

'Knock Down Trade Barriers Against U.K.'

WINNIPEG (CP)—A British industrialist Tuesday called on Canada and the United Kingdom to abolish trade quotas and tariffs as a move toward freer trade between the two countries.

"An alternative policy of increasing protection would, I believe, damage us both," the Rt. Hon. Sir Toby Low, Conservative member of parliament, told the 80th annual meeting of the Winnipeg Chamber of Commerce.

Britain still was buying much more from Canada than she was exporting to this country, he said. Protective measures were restricting Britain from increasing her exports.

"Between 1951 and 1958 our exports to Canada rose by 37 per cent and, in the first four months of 1959 they were worth 8 per cent more than in the same four months of 1958," said Sir Toby, former minister of state, board of trade.

The gap between exports and imports is still very large and much in Canada's favor. In 1958, your imports cost us $781,000,000 and we got by our exports to you only $525,000,000.

Sir Toby said Britain has moved from a tight system of restrictions on imports from Canada and dollar countries to an almost complete trade freedom.

"Today the door is open to Canadian commodities and goods to enter Britain just as it is open for the countries of Western Europe."

He added that Britain is doing everything possible to balance the trade between the two countries.

"I want to leave you no doubt that we are competitive in price, delivery date, design, technically and scientifically, with the United States," he said.

"Today our scientists, our technologists, our managements, our factories and our plants are up to date and advanced and, in not a few cases, lead the world."

Sir Toby said that Britain expects to sell nothing in Canada which is not as good in quality and price as that which you can get elsewhere. All Britain wants, he said, is the opportunity to be able to sell its materials to this country.

Canada need not be worried that Britain will stop buying her wheat as a result of recent trade agreements with the Soviet bloc and China, Sir Toby said.

"I want to assure your wheat growers that Britain's wheat industry is based on that."

He said agreements to expand Britain's trade with Russia which lead to expansion of British exports and industrial output will "most definitely work to Canada's advantage."

TRADE MORE WITH REDS

ST. ANDREWS, N.B. (CP)—Active trade across the Pacific between Canada and Communist countries is envisaged by Cyrus Eaton, Canadian-born Cleveland industrialist here for the annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

Canada, Mr. Eaton said, cannot wait to see whether the United States adopts "sounder" policies without Canada sacrificing her tremendous potential for trade with the Far East.

"An examination of the ambitious Siberian development program in the new Soviet seven-year plan leaves no doubt of the thriving traffic that can be conducted across the Pacific between the west coast of Canada and the Russian Far East."

HINT FRENCH-CANADIAN AS GOVERNOR-GENERAL

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's next governor-general will be a Canadian, and probably a French-speaking Canadian, it was learned today.

Informants said Prime Minister Diefenbaker has decided to follow the lead of the former Liberal government in having a Canadian in Government House.

Identity of Mr. Diefenbaker's choice has been kept secret.

Green, government House leader, said Mr. Pickersgill "let the cat out of the bag" by referring to the Ontario election. His motion obviously was only a political propaganda motion.

Mr. Green said there will be a chance to debate the matter if the Opposition had the "courage" to revert to it when the next supply motion is proposed by the government, probably a week from Monday.

Hazen Argue, CCF House leader, said the matter is urgent to determine whether the Indians concerned were denied money rightly theirs, or whether the Ontario Hydro commission "paid a scandalous amount" for the land.

ADENAUER

came after the two principals had talked together for two hours.

Adenauer joined his party in making a full apology to Erhard.

Erhard returned from the U.S. Tuesday with a pledge that he would "fight" to clear up what he called an "historic lie" about him.

He categorized the lie as including statements that he had ever laid "claim" to the chancellorship of West Germany, that he was less steadfast than others in foreign policy, and that he was an opponent of European integration.

SOVIET

there is no point in going on with the conference on the basis of these proposals.

Gromyko, after his move at the secret session at Herter's residence Tuesday, got agreement to a formal Big Four session today. He served notice he would present the proposal there — meaning he would make it public.

SOUGHT DETAILS

Herter and the other foreign ministers, Britain's Selwyn Lloyd and France's Maurice Couve de Murville, asked for a written statement of the plan. Gromyko refused to provide it.

Berling said the proposal as "reintroduces a time limit, one year, into the Berlin situation, and also reintroduces the element of threat."

Berling said the proposal as presented by Gromyko "moreover covered these general lines:

"The Soviet Union would accept the temporary maintenance of certain Western occupation rights in West Berlin for a one-year period.

"During this period an all-German committee of the Communist German Democratic Republic and the West German Federal Republic on a parity basis should work out the problem of reunification, agree on the principles of a peace treaty and facilitate the development and broadening of contracts, between the GDR and GFR."

Improvement Farm Loans Limit Upped

OTTAWA (CP) — The ceiling on individual farm loans which may be granted under the government's farm improvement loans act is to be boosted to $7,500 from $5,000, it was learned today. The rate of interest is to remain unchanged at 5 per cent.

Informants disclosed this as Finance Minister Fleming gave Parliament customary notice of a resolution to extend the legislation for another three years. The act is due to expire June 30.

They said also that the definition of a farmer under the act would be expanded to allow full-time beekeepers to obtain farm improvement loans.

The loans are made by the chartered banks under a federal repayment guarantee. Loans are made for any purpose which would help improve the condition of farms. Demands for such credit have been increasing.

VANCOUVER ISLAND ROUNDUP

Pt. Alberni Draws Up New Set Of Closing Laws for Garages

PORT ALBERNI—Service station closing hours will be regulated by a bylaw which city council formulated this week.

Proposed regulations will call for a 7 p.m. closing time October to April inclusive; a 9 p.m. closing time May to September, with provisions for permits to be issued for 9 p.m. closing on Fridays through April.

Provisions also will be established whereby permits may be revoked in cases where terms are not observed.

Harbor Pile Driving Co. of Nanaimo has been awarded a $99,157 contract for harbor improvements at Fords Cove, Hornby Island, the federal public works department announced today.

Contract of $43,756 has been awarded to Gretna Bros. of Burnaby for construction of RCMP detachment headquarters at Alert Bay.

Another Old-Timer Succumbs

QUALICUM BEACH—Death Saturday of Mrs. Ellen May Good in St. Joseph's Hospital, Comox, added one more to the toll of pioneer residents of this part of the Island who have died in recent weeks.

The widow of Percival L. Good, who predeceased her in 1947, Mrs. Good was born in Gloucester, England, 78 years ago. She and her husband came to Canada in 1890, settling first in Nanaimo. In 1920 they came to Qualicum Beach where Mrs. Good was living before her death.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. R. J. McQuillan, Courtenay, and Mrs. E. C. Goodman, Vancouver; two sons and one stepson, Leonard Good, Courtenay; Chester Good, Qualicum Beach, and Arthur Good, Nanaimo; two sisters and one brother, Mrs. Charles Tippet, Nanaimo; Mrs. F. N.
